Fair wins, promises 'new fair'

The Hancock County Fair continued its winning ways this month by taking home another trophy at the Kentucky Association of Fairs and Horse Shows convention earlier this month.

Fair board chairman Franklin Powers accepted the award for winner of Zone 1 Division A at the Jan. 19 ceremony in Louisville, which he is growing accustomed to doing, since this makes its seventh win, along with seven runner-up finishes and two overall wins.

"This puts you in the top six in the top six in the state of Kentucky," he said. "That's really good."

Next year's fair will be even better, he said, with improved rides from a new company.

"The fair board is really excited about this new ride company," Powers said. "We're calling this a new fair, OK."

Next year's fair is scheduled for July 31, August 1, 2, and 3.
