The Dixon Cow Days Fall Festival Insert is published annually by the Dixon Pilot, now in our 106th year serving as Dixon's hometown newspaper.

Welcome to the 2016 Edition of the Dixon Cow Days Fall Festival Insert

We hope you enjoy the pictures and articles about the past, and information provided about the Dixon area and its citizen's from years ago.

This publication would not be possible without the many pictures, articles and items provided to us by our friends and neighbors in the Dixon area. We thank you for your contributions that bring back memories to some and teach our town's history to others.

Also, a big thanks to all the advertisers for supporting this endeavor year after year. You provide the means for this publication to continue to be printed.

The Dixon Chamber of Commerce, many area businesses, and local citizens have worked hard to make the 2016 Cow Days Fall Festival a success, so we hope everyone has a great time at "There's No Place Like Home."
