Special to The Clinton Courier

At a Clinton School Board meeting before the holidays, Gary Bailey from Dale Bailey Architects presented renderings of the new Career and Technical Education facilities that will be built at Clinton High School.

These additions will house culinary arts, construction, automotive, teacher academy, law and public safety, health sciences, and other career and technical programs. Clinton's current Career Complex is on the campus of Clinton Junior High School, and these additions will relocate all programs onto the main campus of Clinton High School.

Construction is expected to begin in spring 2019.
