

The Thirteen Towns.

FOSSTON, (Polk Co.) MINNESOTA.

Barbara Fritchie promises to become almost as mythical as the man who struck "Billy" Patterson.

A law now under the consideration of the congress of the Argentine Republic provides for the reading of the Bible in the public schools.

A new departure in which Mr. Moody was deeply interested goes into effect at Mount Hermon next month. Hereafter the school will be in practically continuous session, the year being divided into three terms of sixteen weeks each. The new church at Mount Hermon, formed just before Mr. Moody died, has already admitted thirty young men as new members on confession of faith.

A religious daily, called The New Daily, has been established in London and will be sold for half-a-penny. It announces: "The idea of this journal is to advocate daily with all fearlessness and candor a return to those first principles of our Christian profession from which we have so grossly departed; to promote meditation, to encourage criticism and discussion and to do the utmost possible to supply a good daily with the least possible parade and expense."

A queer case came up in the Senate recently, illustrative of the mixed relation which Cuba bears to the United States. Mr. Stewart presented a petition from certain citizens of that island in regard to the landing of a cable there, and moved that it be referred regularly to the committee on military affairs. Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, called attention to the Senate rule forbidding the presentation of a petition from citizens of a foreign country. Such a petition must go through the State Department. Mr. Stewart argued that these petitioners did not come under the head of foreigners, because Congress had power to legislate on the subject concerning which they appealed, and this view finally prevailed.

The United States has recently concluded several arrangements for arbitration. One is with Great Britain and Germany to settle claims of American, British and German residents in Samoa for property damages during the disturbances last year. Another, with Haiti, arises from the collection of a tax which is asserted to have been illegal. There are, in all, five such arbitrations agreed upon, and a sixth is pending. The claims which are the subject of these arbitrations are not of the kind which usually lead to war. The friends of peace throughout the world are urging that not only such civil suits as these but national affronts and injuries be referred to peaceful tribunals and settled by them.

A new bill authorizes the secretary of the navy to contract for Krupp armor at $545 a ton. In the naval appropriation bill of last year, the limit of $400 a ton was fixed upon the price of armor. No contracts could be placed at that price, and the result is that none of the three battleships and three armored cruisers authorized by last year's bill have been contracted for. For the same reason the battleships Wisconsin, Alabama and Illinois, which should have been delivered to the government complete last year, have been delayed, and their builders are seeking redress from the government for the loss incurred through failure to supply the armor. Under the new bill, the secretary's authority to buy armor at $545 a ton applies to vessels before authorized as well as those provided for in the bill.

News from the Philippines may now and then seem to grow dull and stale in comparison with the stirring tidings formerly received from those islands. Yet to the reflective mind each word of even the simplest dispatch suggests a romance of industry and adventure. For every word has to be flashed under the China sea from Manila to Hong Kong; thence under the same sea again, either to Brunel, in Sarawak, or to Hue and to Saigon, in Indo-China; thence a third time under the China sea to Singapore; thence up the Strait to Georgetown; thence across and under the Bay of Bengal to Madras; thence across the teeming Deccan to Bombay; thence under the Arabian sea to Aden; thence up the Red sea to Suez; thence across Egypt to Alexandria; thence under the Mediterranean sea to Malta, to Gibraltar and Lisbon, or to Marseilles and thence across France; thence to London; thence across land and sea to the western coast of Ireland; thence with a mighty span under the Atlantic to Newfoundland, to Nova Scotia, and so on to New York. In that itinerary a whole treatise on geography and more than one volume of the world's history are involved.

Secret-service expenditures of Great Britain do not seem to have kept pace with the spread of militarism. They have been less of late than they were at the beginning of the century. The money voted to defray "the charge of her majesty's foreign and other secret services" in 1883-4 hardly exceeded $100,000, and for the last few years has averaged about $150,000. Yet in 1820 $200,000 was appropriated for the purpose and in 1814 and the year of Waterloo the vote was no less than $875,000.

FLED IN THE NIGHT

BOERS EVACUATE A STRONGLY ENTRENCHED POSITION.

Roberts Arrives at the Rhenoster River and Finds That the Boers Had Fled—Passage of the Rhenoster Strongly Disputed—Boers Driven Before Ian Hamilton's Force—Roberts' Forces Are Drawing Near the Frontier of the Transvaal—Pretoria Said to Be Able to Withstand a Year's Siege—Leids and Kruger Quarrel.

London, May 25.—The war office late last evening published the following from Lord Roberts:

"South Bank of Rhenoster River, May 23, 1.30 p. m.—We found on arrival here this morning that the enemy had fled during the night. They had occupied a strong position on the north bank of the river which had been carefully entrenched, but they did not think it advisable to defend it when they heard that Ian Hamilton's force was at Heilbron and that our cavalry, which had crossed the Rhenoster some miles lower down the stream was threatening their right and rear. The bridge over the Rhenoster, several culverts and some miles of the railway were destroyed. Ian Hamilton's force drove the Boers under Ret Dewet before them from Lindley to Heilbron. The passage of the Rhenoster was strongly disputed. Our loss might have been heavy but for a well concerted plan which brought Smith-Dorrien's brigade on the enemy's flank just at the right moment. The officer commanding at Boshof reports that upward of 350 Free Staters have surrendered the last few days and that they have given up 300 rifles, 100 horses and a large amount of ammunition. Kelly-Kenny reports that three companies of yeomanry who were sent to repair the telegraph line and clear the country between Bloemfontein and Boshof have returned to Bloemfontein, having performed the duty excellently well."

Roberts Nearing the Transvaal. London, May 25.—Lord Roberts is drawing near to the frontier of the Transvaal. His infantry masses are thirty-three miles north of Kroonstad, at the Rhenoster river. Some thousands of cavalry are already across the river. The Boers are retiring toward the Vaal with their heavy baggage. They are reported from Pretoria as already across that river. Twelve thousand men and fourteen guns compose the retreating army. Troops continue to run from Vereeniging, at the Vaal, to Pretoria. Foreign engineers assert that Pretoria is able to stand a year's siege. According to advices from Lourenzo Marques the Pretoria fortifications are described as complete, but Johannesburg has not yet been placed in a state of defense. The Transvaal Government's War Chest has been removed to Lydenburg. Forcigiers continue to leave the republic. The Dutch cruiser Friedland is at Delagoa Bay, so it is reported, to furnish an asylum for the fleeing Hollanders and passage to Europe. The Boer forces continue to dwindle. Some of the correspondents assert that probably only about 24,000 of the hardest fighters yet remain, although there are detached parties in various parts of the Transvaal. One of the curious pieces of gossip sent from Lourenzo Marques is that several women tried to sjambok President Kruger, who was rescued by his bodyguard. He rarely leaves the presidency now, but works incessantly, holding councils at daybreak and during the night. It was stated at Pretoria Sunday that the British prisoners will be moved from there. Making dispatches continue to pour into London detailing events preceding the relief. It appears that the Canadian artillery, Maj. Endon's seven guns, did splendid work.

Some of them assert that the Canadians did "absolutely essential work in the fighting." The ensign of the squadron of Bethuen's horse appears to have been quite as bad as was at first reported. Gen. Bethuen, thinking there were 10 Boers at Fryheid, determined to go that way toward Newcastle as a short cut. The advance squadron was hurrying to make Fryheid before dark. It left the main body behind and trotted into ambush. The Boers had Maxims, but the British seeing they had no chance to retire, dashed forward to a point within twenty yards of the Boer rifles. Five officers and sixty-three men were killed or wounded. Bethuen ordered his four other squadrons to retire. The damage to Laine's Nek tunnel is capable of prompt repair. The Strength of the Boers at that point is not known. Probably from 5,000 to 6,000 men. Dr. Leyds, according to the Brussels correspondent of the Daily Express, has quarreled with the Transvaal government. A representative of President Kruger is alleged to have demanded an explanation regarding the $500,000 which has passed through Dr. Leyds' hands. Dr. Leyds is said to have replied that the money had all been expended and expressed indignation when asked for an itemized statement. President Kruger's emissary is described as showing Dr. Leyds certain ante-war letters in which Germany and France said they would intervene, and Dr. Leyds, according to this account, grabbed the documents and threw them into the fire, having a bodily struggle with the emissary. These alleged incidents are cited to explain the recent working of Dr. Leyds.

PLAGUE SITUATION.

No New Cases Reported at San Francisco.

San Francisco, May 25.—The bubonic plague situation remains unchanged. Dr. Williamson, president of the local board of health, said last night that no new cases had been reported in this city or state. Sixty Chinese and Japanese were inoculated with serum yesterday. The Chinese strongly protested against this precautionary measure, and the great majority of them positively refused to submit to inoculation. The Japanese, on the contrary, did not object and are disposed to help the health officers. Strict sanitary measures are being enforced in the Chinese district and the authorities do not anticipate any outbreak of the disease.

"BILL" BJORNSTAD HIT.

A Filipino Bullet Wounds Him in the Knee.

Minneapolis, May 24.—A. W. Bjornstad, who served with the Thirteenth Minnesota regiment as captain of Company H, has been wounded in the Philippines. In a letter to Former Lieut. Roy Pearce of Minneapolis, Capt. Bjornstad gives a description of the siege of the town of Morang. His regiment, the forty-second volunteers, was shut up for a week before relief reached it. In an engagement he was shot in the knee, and as a part of the regiment was absent he was compelled to do duty for twenty hours after being wounded. For this reason the injury proved more serious than it would had it received proper care and rest. Capt. Bjornstad was recovering rapidly at the time the letter was written. In an engagement at the time of the capture of Manila in August, Capt. Bjornstad was wounded quite seriously, but he had completely recovered and had been on duty several months. His latest adventure took place April 19.

Lowden, Estabrook & Davis, informing him that a final injunction, with costs, had been granted against the Chicago Label and Box Company. This company makes a specialty of manufacturing labels, boxes, etc., for druggists. The Carter Company has been following them through the courts for two years on the complaint that the label company was making simulations of the labels of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They have now obtained a final injunction with costs, and the costs are very large, as the case has been submitted to a Master in Chancery for a final accounting.

The Carter Medicine Company has been the first and only one to prosecute printers or engravers who have prepared such labels and wrappers. It marks a new departure in infringement cases, and their victory is one of great importance to the whole "proprietary trade," and also of interest to retail druggists.—New York Press, May 2, 1900.

At Stroud, in Gloucestershire, a certain well-known townsman had one night been out to a rather prolonged supper with some of his friends, and on his way home had the misfortune to fall into a pond which he had to pass, and which at that time of the year contained more mud than water.

Several people who saw him fall in rushed to his rescue, and a rope was procured and thrown to him; but he refused the aid offered and commenced swimming to the shore in the most scientific manner, shouting to those on the bank, "Never mind me; never mind me—I can swim. Save the women and children!"—The Weekly Telegraph.
