LENGBY NEWS.

Lengby, Nov. 15.—The ladies of the Synod Church Sewing society will hold an auction sale in Lengby Thanksgiving Day, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon sharp.

O M Olson left Monday with a car load of cattle for St. Paul.

A H Johnson was here Monday between trains. Mr. Johnson bought the horse drawn by Theodor Ralfson at the raffle Saturday.

Dr Gronwald, from Gray, and Dr Kjeland, from Ada, was here this week on a deer hunt.

Mr A R Amber, of Fosston, was in town today.

Our depot agent is now comfortably located with his family in the rooms over Ringstad & Nelson's store.

The Bazar held yesterday under the auspices of the ladies of the Swedish Baptist church was a grand success netting them a nice little sum for the mission fund.

Chas Olson returned last night from Rice River where he has been during the Indian payment.

Rev O Taffin, of McIntosh, will preach at Chas. Olson's place Sunday, at 11:30 A. M.

There is no pleasure in life if you dread going to the table to eat and can't rest at night on account of indigestion. Henry Williams, of Boonville, Ind., says he suffered that way for years till he commenced the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and adds: "Now I can eat anything I like and all I want and sleep soundly every night." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest what you eat.—Ed. Raud.

A contest alleging abandonment has been commenced by T. P. Hamre of Thief River Falls, against Mrs. Jennie Cunningham. The land involved is a portion of the original claim made by Mrs. Cunningham, who was the second person to file, at the time of the opening in May 1896. After successfully maintaining her right to a portion of land by defending four contests, it is alleged that Mrs. Cunningham has boarded up the windows of her claim shanty and wholly abandoned the place for upwards of six months.

MANTEL DECORATION

OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE EXERCISE OF SUPERIOR TASTE.

Ornamental Shelves and Cabinets For Rooms Where Mantelpieces Are Lacking—Beware of Too Much Bric-a-brac.

The mantel of a room is its most conspicuous feature, as this is almost the first thing we notice upon entering, and a room in which a mantelpiece is lacking can never be quite satisfactory, no matter how ornamental the shelf or wall cabinet that supplies the place.

Still it is not always possible to have a mantel in every room of the house.

CORNER MANTEL

for the regular mantel means a chimney as well, and it is only the superior class of modern houses which are supplied with open fireplaces in every room. It is an added expense which many feel they must do without even when building a new house, or there may not be a chimney convenient, and an extra chimney means extra money, and this perhaps is the reason why mantel dealers keep on hand a good stock of ornamental shelves with mirrors and cabinets for decorating walls.

The old fashioned mantel was of marble, either black or white, plain or carved, ending at the top with a plain shelf, says Mrs. S. D. Whitney in The Household. In many cases they were not ornamented, and today they are usually painted the color of the woodwork, which gives them the semblance of the wooden mantel now seen.

It is frequently desirable to convert the plain shelf into a cabinet. This is by no means difficult if the base is of good style and the shelf ample and broad. The sketch here shown will give an idea of what may be done in this way. The simpler the design the better taste will be shown, and as far as possible one should be chosen that will conform to the lines of the base and make a uniform whole which will be pleasing, and often the result is very pleasing.

The design here shown is a simple one, which may be worked out in any wood to match the base, the principal expense being the beveled mirror, for which plain wood panels may be substituted if desired.

One can often make a change in an old mantel by means of a cabinet, which will be fully as desirable and less expensive than to tear out the old mantel and replace with a new one entirely. If there is no cabinet maker at hand, it may be ordered from any mantel manufacturer, and in such a case a photograph and full description should accompany the order.

Do not overload a mantel shelf with bric-a-brac. Furnish it as simply as possible. A candlestick or candelabra, a choice bit in pottery, a picture and perhaps a vase, or for the dining room vary the picture with a handsome plate if of rare or old china and the bit of pottery with an old fashioned teapot. There are no "cut and dried" rules for these furnishings except that there be not too many of them.

Removing Stains.

Coffee.—Lay the stained portion of the cloth over a bowl and pour boiling water through it.

Fruit.—Boiling water as above; if ineffectual, rub with a solution of oxalic acid and rinse in warm water.

Ink.—Dip in boiling water, rub with salts of sorrel and rinse well.

Blood.—Soak in cold water. For tickling and thick goods make a thick paste of starch and water. Leave till dry and brush off.

Search.—Dip in soapsuds and lay in sun. If fibers are not much injured, dip repeatedly in saturated solution of borax and rinse.

Mildew.—Wet with soapsuds; lay in sun; spread with a paste of soft soap and powdered chalk and sun it; soak in buttermilk and sun.

Grass.—If fresh, use alcohol and rinse, or use Javelle water and rinse thoroughly.

Paint.—Turpentine for coarse goods, benzine or naphtha for fine.

Grease.—Moisten with strong ammonia water, lay blotting paper over and iron dry; if silk, use chloroform to restore color or cover with powdered French chalk and iron.—Good House-keeping.

Removing Ink Stains.

Ink stains can be removed from some wash goods by rubbing with the yolk of an egg before washing. Search can be removed from muslin or linen by applying the juice of two onions, one-half ounce of white soap, two ounces of fuller's earth and one-half pint of vinegar, all boiled together and cooled before using.
