Sponsored by Farmers Rural Electric Cooperative and the electric appliance dealers of Barren, Hart and Metcalfe counties, the Appliance Show featured to latest appliances available on the market. The show was held at Glasgow High School.

Stoney McKinney and Clancey Turner transport a new refrigerator out of the Farmers RECC appliance showroom in Glasgow, KY. The Cooperative provided ranges and refrigerators to Home Economics classes at schools throughout the service territory.

Jewett Steenbergen, left, former Meter Technician at Farmers RECC, holds an original meter from the early years at Farmers RECC. Josh Cook, Lineman, holds a new, smart meter. The new smart meters served as a building block for Automated Metering Infrastructure (AMI) technology.

The Farmers RECC Outage Viewer was placed on the Cooperative's website in 2012 and could be viewed anywhere there was an internet connection, including on a mobile phone. The outage viewer could give members information about the outage, including where it was located and progress of restoration.
