

Mills County Mounts

By Reagan Grisham

After you have shot your limit this hunting season, stop by Mills County Mounts on Fisher street. Mills County Mount owner, Brit Berry said that they saw a need in the area for a taxidermists, so he opened the store.

Berry does taxidermy, shoulder mounts, life-size mounts, European skull mounts, and tan hides. He also offers really good prices.

"I checked the surrounding taxidermists and set [my prices] in the middle," Berry said.

Prices will fluctuate based on materials, but he will do a great job at creating beautiful pieces for you. As of now he has no plans to open up another store. "I have a little building on 8th street and one on Fisher. It grew fast enough over two seasons. The plan is if the Fisher store keeps growing, then I would like to have some other taxidermists working with me," Berry said.

Stop by Mills County Mounts this hunting season and let Brit Berry help you mount your trophies.
