

The saxophonist and low brass musicians in the band (shown above) get a chance to let their hair down and jazz it up during the Marching Pride’s rendition of “Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy”. The band’s flutist (Right) actually put their instruments down during the number and do a little dancing as part of the routine. Shown (Below, L-R) are Jakalin Brassfield and Luke McMurphy laying down the rythm on guitar and bass guitar during the halftime show.

► Marching Pride

Continued from Page 21-B

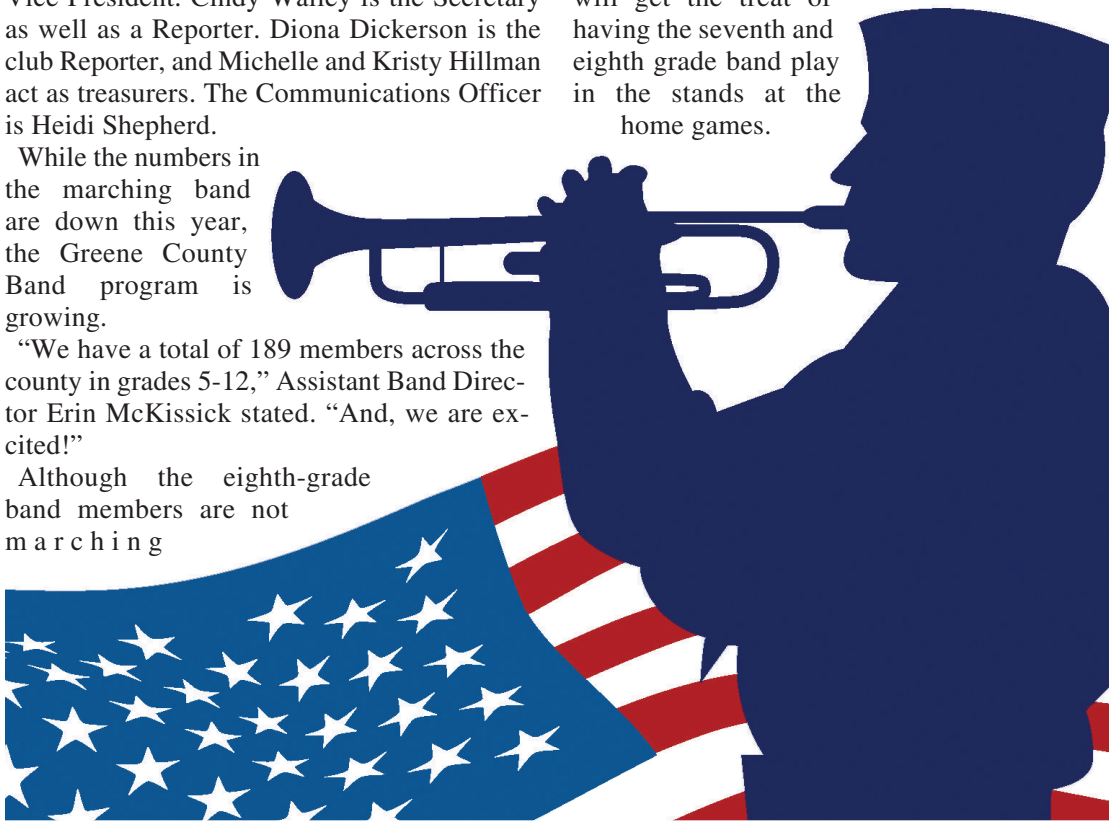

The President of the Band Booster Club is Marvin Pope with Candyce Helton serving as Vice President. Cindy Walley is the Secretary as well as a Reporter. Diona Dickerson is the club Reporter, and Michelle and Kristy Hillman act as treasurers. The Communications Officer is Heidi Shepherd.

While the numbers in the marching band are down this year, the Greene County Band program is growing.

“We have a total of 189 members across the county in grades 5-12,” Assistant Band Director Erin McKissick stated. “And, we are excited!”

Although the eighth-grade band members are not marching with the high school this year, there is a bright side. The Leakesville Jr. High School Bears will get the treat of having the seventh and eighth grade band play in the stands at the home games.

Photos by Russell Turner

