

IN AND AROUND
LEXINGTON
BY LEONA (LENA) FIELDS

TRIAD meets the first Wednesday of each month of the year at 10 a.m. at the Multi-Purpose Building in Lexington. All seniors (55 years old and older) are invited to attend. TRIAD means The Right Information and Direction. It is held each month in order that seniors can be in the know about things that can help keep them safe and healthy.

In the January TRIAD meeting, scams were discussed. One scam discussed is how people will be in a parking lot at a store selling perfume. Once you smell it you will pass out because it is drugs. Once you are drugged you will be robbed. Another scam discussed is young ladies will be on the road pretending to have car trouble. However, if you stop to help them there will be someone behind them. They are out to get you. Seniors and other people be careful about your surroundings.

For the February TRIAD, eye care was discussed. Dr. Gerald Stinson from the Lexington Eye Care Clinic gave helpful information about eye problems and eye testing. He stated some eye tests can detect brain tumors (double vision). Call the eye doctor right away, don't wait 2 or 3 days before you call. Some eye problems come from diabetes, glaucoma, and macular degeneration (smoking). Sheriff March gave the crime update. He or another law enforcement officer does this each month. Each month various speakers present information that can keep seniors in the know.

Seniors in and around Lexington please support Mrs. Ann G. Brown, Sheriff Willie March and the other leaders of TRIAD each month by attending meetings. Don't wait until they give the big dinner at the high school in May.

Eric Wright, a former Holmes Countian, got his hand messed up when his van blew up in Ceder Rapids, Iowa. When the van blew up he managed to get out but he burned his hand.

The Homemakers Club (quitting ladies) thank all the people who donated blankets, heavy materials, cloth, etc., to make quilts for community projects. They are making quilts to be donated to dialysis patients.

Conservation Corner

by James Cummins
Executive Director of Wildlife Mississippi

The snow goose is an ever-increasing species of goose in Mississippi. It has two color phases, a blue phase and a white phase. "Snows," as they are commonly called, are highly sought-after birds in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, but the increasing occurrence of larger populations still hasn't generated a high demand by the Magnolia State's waterfowlers.

The snow goose is 27 to 31 inches in length and averages about 4.5 pounds as a juvenile and almost 6 pounds as an adult. Adults of the white phase are completely white with black wing tips and pink feet, bill and legs. Immature white-face snow geese have a gray head, neck, back and upper wing surface. Wingtips are black and the bill and legs are grayish-brown.

Adults of the blue phase have a bluish-gray body and a white head, neck and tail. There are varying amounts of white on them. The bill, feet and legs are pink. Overall, this phase appears dull brownish-gray with a gray upper wing.

Snow geese found in Mississippi nest in colonies in the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions of North America from Baffin Island to Wrangel Island in Siberia. The largest colonies, however, are centered on the Western Coast to Hudson Bay. Snow geese nest on low, grassy tundra plains. Nests consist of scrapes on the grounds that are made with vegetation such as moss, grass, sedges and willows. Most snow geese do not nest until they are 3 or 4 years of age. The average number of eggs each goose lays is four, with a 60 to 90 percent hatching success, so there is no wonder the population is so large.

Snow geese begin migrating from the breeding grounds in mid-August with the most of it occurring in September. During migration, snow geese are found resting and feeding largely in agricultural areas consisting of corn and winter wheat. As they migrate south, they shift to a diet of rice, soybeans and winter wheat.

Joshua Haymer (pictured above center), of Lexington, recently served as a page for the Mississippi House of Representatives. Pages generally run errands for officials and House staff. Joshua is pictured with Speaker of the House Philip Gunn (at right) and Representative Bryant W. Clark who sponsored his visit. Joshua is the son of Erica Haymer and Barren Cleark and attends Central Holmes Christian School. When asked about the week, Joshua said, "My week at the Capitol was wonderful. I got to meet new people and I learned a lot of new things about the Capitol. It was a great experience being around the Representatives and sitting in on their sessions." (Photo submitted)

Snow geese winter across the South Central and Western United States with the largest concentrations found in the central valley of California and the Gulf Coasts of Texas and Louisiana. In response to recent favorable habitat conditions, larger concentrations are wintering in Mississippi. The birds usually begin arriving in early December with the majority arriving in January. They remain here throughout winter and begin flying back to breed the first warm days of February.

Almost all snow goose management occurs on migration and wintering areas. As with other waterfowl, management consists of providing the geese with food and water, such as the rice fields of Mississippi.

James L. Cummins is executive director of Wildlife Mississippi, a non-profit, conservation organization founded to conserve, restore and enhance fish, wildlife and plant resources throughout Mississippi. Their web site is www.wildlifemiss.org.

THE WICKER REPORT

By: United States Senator Roger Wicker

Wicker Praises Trump Pick for Supreme Court

Judge Gorsuch Has a Judicial Philosophy Much Like the Justice He Would Succeed

The tragic death of Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia last February left a colossal void on the highest court in our nation. He was brilliant, principled, and fair, unmoved by politics or public opinion. The task of replacing him is enormous, but President Trump has put forward an excellent nominee who embodies the characteristics that Scalia brought to the bench. Judge Neil Gorsuch is more than qualified for this consequential role. His legal background includes clerking for two Supreme Court justices and serving for the past 10 years on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit in Denver. He has earned widespread bipartisan respect for his intellect, collegiality, and fairness when it comes to applying the law and the Constitution. His nomination to the Tenth Circuit was unanimously approved by the Senate.

As Mississippi's U.S. Senator, I take my part in this process seriously.

Last November, the American people elected a president who promised to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court in the mold of Scalia. President Trump has followed through on this promise with Judge Gorsuch. He is a nominee capable of earning support from both Republicans and Democrats. In fact, several Democrats currently serving in the Senate, including Minority Leader Chuck Schumer (D-N.Y.), were among those who confirmed him to the Tenth Circuit in 2006.

I am pleased President Trump has selected a judge who understands the importance of defending our constitutional rights and unabashedly protecting our religious freedoms. This was

DURANT NEWS

by Rowena Hill

Friends and family of Mrs. Carson (Katherine) Cagle are very glad she is home from spending time in a Jackson hospital. Prayers continue for her and also Cassie. She also hasn't been well.

Mr. David Irby is spending time with his parents while recovering from recent surgery. All are thankful it went well and he is recovering well.

Friends of Mrs. Lucy Howell regret very much that she isn't well. Her sons have spent time with her. Friends look forward to seeing and being with her at church and around town again soon. Prayers are for her.

Mrs. Cynthia Bratcher spent time during the week with family and enjoyed attending her granddaughter's ball games. We missed her.

Mrs. Frankie Farmer and Mrs. Valerie Farmer enjoyed spending time in Greenwood during the week.

Let's not forget to reserve a place for the February 11th Valentine Meal and Program at First Baptist Fellowship Hall at 6 p.m.

Last Sunday, due to the rainy weather, only a small crowd attended church. Hope more can be present this Sunday. Brother Lyn really blesses our hearts with his sermons. Gale does a good job with the choir also. Make plans to attend if you don't have a place to worship.

made clear in the Hobby Lobby case, in which Judge Gorsuch agreed that Obamacare mandates should not force business owners to violate their religious beliefs. He has also ruled against the removal of the Ten Commandments from public

(Continued on page 6.)

EXPRESS GRAIN COMMODITY PRICES

Crop	CBOT Month	Delivery Period	Futures Price	EGT Basis	Net Price	Change
Wheat	Mar 17	2017 Feb	4.23	-0.57	3.66	-0.08
Wheat	Jul 17	2017 Jul	4.49	-0.27	4.22	-0.07
Corn	Mar 17	2017 Feb	3.64	0.08	3.72	-0.01
Corn	Sep 17	2017 Aug	3.85	-0.12	3.73	-0.01
Soybeans Sidon	Nov 17	2017 Aug Sep	10.17	0.00	0.00	0.00
Soybeans G'wood	Mar 17	2017 Feb	10.36	-0.07	10.29	0.09
Soybeans G'wood	Nov 17	2017 Aug Sep	10.17	0.01	10.18	0.07
Soybeans Minter City	Nov 17	2017 Aug Sep	10.17	0.00	0.00	0.00
Rice	Feb 17		9.485			-0.060
Rice	Sep 17		10.270			-0.030
Cotton	Mar 17		75.63			-0.780
Cotton	May 17		76.37			-0.700

Prices as of 2:00 p.m. on 2/06/17
Call to get daily bids by cell phone or email
www.ExpressGrain.com 662-453-0800

CASH PLUS TITLE PLUS

205 Tchula St., Lexington, MS
(across from Double Quick)
662-834-9045

Payday Loans up to $400.00
Title Loans up to $2,500.00

WE DO 30 DAY LOANS!!!
NO Credit Check

Refer a friend, earn a free $20.00!

Bridal Registry
Mary Kate Jenkins
Tanner Bartlett
June 3, 2017

Howell & Heggie Drug Co.
389 N. W. Depot St.
Durant
662-653-6441

LOVE

Russell's Gifts
Lexington, MS
662-834-1188

Open Saturday
February 11
9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

They'll be calling you 'Sweetheart' by the end of the day!