

New trout fishery in Fall Creek Falls

CROSSVILLE – TWRA has partnered with Fall Creek Falls State Park to bring new trout fishing opportunities to the area. Both rainbow trout and brook trout will be stocked in the upper sections of Cane Creek by March 1. The rainbows will be placed in The George Hole, near the Nature Center, where anglers will have ample bank-fishing access and the brooks will be stocked upstream, around the Highway 284 Bridge and the park's Upper Loop Trail.

According to TWRA Biologist Will Collier, there will be over five miles of fishable water from The George Hole upstream to the park's southeastern boundary. Collier continued, "Having a trout stream within state park boundaries is particularly exciting as it will give anglers a unique chance to fish more water without the worry of trespassing on private land." Park Manager Jacob Young agrees, "We are excited to have TWRA's help in providing a fun and new park experience to our visitors. This will draw in new visitation during a typically underutilized time and also give our returning guests a new activity to try during their stay." Currently, Upper Cane Creek will be under the statewide trout regulation which is seven fish per day creel with no length limit. For more information about this and the state's other seasonal trout streams visit tnwildlife.org.

— EVERY VOTE COUNTS —

Serving the people of Dekalb County is an honor and privilege and has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. I respect and am dedicated to the office of County Mayor and want to remain accessible to the citizens of this county. My office has always had an open door and I take pride in being on the job unless my responsibilities have me away from it. Although at times we may have had our differences, we need to ensure that we continue to work together as we face matters that affect our county. Working as your County Mayor everyday makes campaigning more difficult and I know I will not be able to reach everyone. Please know that I don't take your support for granted. I need your vote and influence and humbly ask for it now.

Jack Barton Seeks Re-election on County Commission

Jack Barton is seeking re-election to continue the good work of the DeKalb County Commission. Barton has served the county for three terms as a County Commissioner, two of which were in the Second District and one term, presently, in the Third District. He has served on the budget committee during all three of his Commission terms and is well versed in all county financial matters. Barton is actively involved in balancing the needs of the county with its tax revenues and is deliberate in helping increase county fund balances to not only provide a

Commissioner Jack Barton

In the nearly 17 years that Barton has lived in DeKalb County, he has been active in the community aside from his time on the County Commission as a DeKalb County Jaycee, a DeKalb County Library Board Member, a Smithville Community Chorus member, and a volunteer for the Smithville Fiddlers' Jamboree as Director and Coordinator for 9 years. He is the owner of Snow Hill Studios Design and Print (Formerly Bradley Printing) and he works full time for Averitt Express in Cookeville as a Regional Truckload Manager. Before moving to Smithville, he was employed at Averitt Express for 15 years and now has been back at Averitt for an additional seven years to total 22.

Barton is the proud father of Tess Barton 11, Ben Barton 9, and Camille Barton 7 all of whom attend DeKalb West School. His grandfather moved here from Cookeville seven years ago and resides on Allen Ferry Road.

"Since moving to DeKalb County and making it my home, I have done all I can to be a very involved citizen. Giving back is very important to me. If everyone gave back by volunteering or serving his or her community in some way, our potential as a County would be limitless. My three young children have such a wonderful place to grow up, and I want them to know that many of the good things we enjoy here are the result of the efforts of so many dedicated DeKalb Countians! I have seen this firsthand through my work on the Commission."

"During my time on the Commission, I am proud to have been involved with the purchase and building of the DeKalb County Community Center and Office Complex as well as the establishment of the School Resource Officers at every school in our county. The expansion of DeKalb West School through the F.E.M.A. grant is another accomplishment I was pleased to help bring to fruition."

"With my past experience and knowledge of our county's business along with my desire to give back to my community and lead it in a positive direction, I believe I am well qualified to continue my service on the DeKalb County Commission," said Barton. ■
