In 2018 Dale Hollow Dam is celebrating 75 years of operation and meeting the mission for which it was designed. Authorized by the Flood Control Act of 1938, the dam continues to provide flood risk reduction and support its other intended purposes such as hydropower, water supply, environmental stewardship, and outdoor recreation.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Nashville District designed Dale Hollow Dam and Morrison-Knudsen, private contractors under the supervision of the Corps, built the dam. The Corps awarded the contract Dec. 30, 1941, and mobilization, clearing and construction of roadways and support structures began immediately. Construction of the dam began March 2, 1942. With sister construction of civil works projects suspended due to war, Dale Hollow Dam was rushed to completion Oct. 20, 1943, but discontinued construction of the powerhouse.

Dale Hollow Dam was the first of its kind completed in the Nashville District. The Corps fully impounded Dale Hollow Lake May 7, 1944. Work on the power house resumed in July 1946. Three Francis turbines were installed in December 1948, January 1949 and November 1953. Each unit generates 18,000 kilowatts for a total of 54,000 kilowatts, enough power to electrify a community of 45,000 and provide support to the national grid.

The dam impounds a length of 61 miles of the Obey River creating Dale Hollow Lake with 620 miles of shoreline, 27,700 acres of water, and 24,842 acres of land for recreational opportunities.

Smithville, Tennessee

Dot's 13th annual Story Telling Day was another huge success this past week with 12 storytellers, including one from Alabama and two from Murfreesboro participating.

This year's theme was "Best Kept Memories; NOT Kept Secret" sponsored by the Smithville Study Club. The club raised $350 for Imagination Library and helped supply money for 725 children to receive books in DeKalb County, birth to five years of age. The Imagination Library is free to any child who qualifies. Those interesting should inquire and fill out an application at the Justin Potter Library.

The event itself left listeners spellbound as they listened to the various stories and tales related by the speakers. This year's storytelling host, Susan Hinton, gave a salute to one who educated many in the area, the late Alice Foster.

The event is held the first Saturday of every May from 1 to 3 p.m. Listeners and storytellers are encouraged to consider attending next year's event.

WOMEN'S EXPO

"We have jewelry, homemade soaps and lotions, health care products, essential oils, re-purposed furniture, clothing and much more," Meadows said, adding it is not just shopping that should draw women to the event. "Women who are interested in perhaps starting their own business can learn how to get started."

There will be door prizes drawn all day and attendees will be able to vote for their favorite booth at the expo. The winning booth will get $75.

"Come out and vote for your favorite booth and maybe win a door prize," Meadows encouraged, noting you do not have to be present to win, provided you come and register for a doorprize.
