A mother faces reckless endangerment charges after she was caught drunk driving with her child in the car.

The mother, Kristie Renea Shehane, 45, is charged with third-offense DUI and reckless endangerment.

She was pulled over after a deputy noticed she was weaving as she was driving on Dale Ridge Road. "She left her lane of travel four times," Sheriff Patrick Ray said of the deputy's report on what prompted him to execute a traffic stop.

The officer, suspecting Shehane was under the influence, conducted a field sobriety test on which she did poorly. She was placed into custody with the deputy noting her seven-year-old son was in the car at the time.

"He was placed in immediate danger due to his mother's action," the sheriff noted.

Wilkey sentenced for child porn

DUANE SHERRILL
Editor Smithville Review

A man caught downloading child porn has been sentenced to four years in prison and will be listed on the state's sex offender registry.

The man, Roy Junior Wilkey, 51, entered a guilty plea in circuit court to the charge of sexual exploitation of a minor and was given a four-year sentence to serve in the state penitentiary. He will also have to list himself on the state's sex offender registry which is a searchable database open to the public which keeps track of convicted sex offenders once they are released from incarceration.

He was arrested last June when Smithville police were called to a residence on Bright Hill Road. When they arrived they found that Wilkey had been locked out of the house by some juvenile females. Police asked why they locked the door and one of the girls alleged Wilkey had taken a picture of her while she was getting out of the shower.

Police were granted permission to look at Wilkey's phone to see if there was an indecent picture of the girl. While they found no pictures of the girl in question they did find a cache of child pornography which they learned he had downloaded from the internet. A close look at his phone revealed more than 50 images of minor engaging in sexual activity.
