Actually, Jack said his interest was getting a subscription to the Review for $30. "You can't beat that price," Jack said when he arrived to pick up his kayak. "I wanted to make sure to take advantage of it. That's for a whole year. It's quite a discount."

Jack noted that his win marks the first time he has "legitimately" won a drawing. "When I was a little kid, I won a drawing of a pitcher," Jack recalled, pointing out his sister, also very young at the time was the one who drew his name out of the hat. "I later found out she had held my entry between her fingers when she was drawing the winner." Jack said he gave back the plastic pitcher when he found out about the situation. "This is the first time I've won a drawing without someone helping me out," Jack laughed.

Jack said he plans to put the kayak to use in the near future, noting he is going to do something most people don't do first - read the instruction manual.

Other winners of prizes from the Review drawing included D. R.R. Atnip, Barbara Comfort, Betty Jo Cantrell, Shan Williams, Betty Cooper, Treva White, Ira Umstead, Jeanette Smithson, Jewell Ponder, Walter Johnson, Tessa Paulson, Carolyn Mathis and Royce Odom.

A convicted felon whose home was raided two weeks ago now faces a mountain of narcotics and firearms charges after lawmen found a cache of guns and drugs in his home.

Patterson, 29, of Toad Road in Dowelltown is charged with five counts of possession of a weapon by a convicted felon, possession, sale or manufacture of methamphetamine, possession of marijuana, and casual exchange of drugs. He is also charged burglary and theft for kicking in the door to a Dowelltown business on June 10 and stealing a 10-gauge Mossberg shotgun.

Patterson has been behind bars since June 20 when officers showed up at his door with a search warrant. The warrant was obtained after he allegedly sold drugs.

"Through their investigation, Sheriff's Department detectives found that Patterson, who is a convicted felon, was in possession of firearms at his home. As a safety precaution, the THP Special Operations Unit was summoned to assist in the search of the home. The THP Special Operations Unit made a forcible entry into the home after no one came to the door. Patterson finally gave himself up along with another male and female who were at the residence. No one was injured," said Sheriff Patrick Ray.

Officers found a bounty of drugs and paraphernalia during their subsequent search.

"Upon searching Patterson's residence, Sheriff's Department officers found 15 grams of methamphetamine, six ounces of marijuana (found under the house), an assortment of prescription pills, one rifle, two shotguns, three pistols, digital scales, glass pipes, and possible stolen power tools. Detectives also seized $427.00 in cash," the sheriff added.

As for the guns, lawmen found a 380 Lorcin handgun, an Archangel 7.52 caliber rifle, a Bersa 380 caliber handgun, a Ruger 22 caliber handgun, and a double barrel shotgun.

Patterson is set for arraignment July 12.
