

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT INTAKE REPORT

Several people were arrested this past week by the DeKalb County Sheriff's Department. Included in county arrests:

CRAIG ANTHONY HILL, 46, was charged with theft after he was caught trying to sell a stolen leaf blower, ladder and air compressor that had been stolen earlier from a Holmes Creek residence. Investigators were able to make the case against Hill.

ANTHONY CHARLIE MILLER, 29, was charged with being a fugitive from justice after it was discovered he was wanted in his hometown of Green Bay, Wis., on outstanding warrants. Wisconsin plans to extradite.

CORY WADE FOSTER, 32, faces double charges for disorderly conduct and assault. He was first picked up for disorderly conduct when deputies found him running into the road causing a traffic hazard on Nashville Highway near Liberty. Once he was at the jail he refused to obey officers and ended up slugging one of the jailers in the head.

WILLIE RAY MURPHY, 36, was charged with possession of methamphetamine, marijuana and Clonazepam and driving on a restricted license. A deputy fell in behind and tried to pull him over. The suspect jumped out of the vehicle and ran into the back door of a residence, leaving behind a container in which officers found the drugs.

MARY KATHERINE ROSS, 30, is charged with second-offense DUI. She was found slumped over her steering wheel with the engine running on Nashville Highway. She did poorly on her field sobriety tests and was taken into custody. Her prior DUI came in White County in 2014.

Cotter caught

DUANE SHERRILL

Smithville, Tennessee

It wasn't a case of welcome back, Cotter when deputies found a man underneath a truck in Dowelltown, trying of syphon out gas.

The suspected gas thief, Bradley Kent Cotter, 48, of Dowelltown is charged with theft and vandalism after he was caught in the act of his crime.

According to Sheriff Patrick Ray, deputies were sent to the Dowelltown Post Office where witnesses said a man was underneath a truck. The truck was up for sale and had been parked there by the owner.

When officers arrived, Cotter was still under the truck. "He had cut a hole in the fuel filter," Sheriff Ray pointed out, noting there was a garden hose running out of the fuel tank, leaving no doubt about what he was doing. "He was stealing gas." Cotter stands charged with not only stealing the gas but with damaging the truck while getting the gas.

Locals make CU Dean's List

Five DeKalb students have made it onto the Dean's List for the Spring Semester at Cumberland University. They are Ana Cuellar, Tyra Graham, Allyson Judkins, Angeles Soto and Chloe White

The Dean's List honor is reserved for students who have achieved a grade point average of 3.50 or above on all classes attempted. The list is issued during the fall and spring terms. Judkins and White also graduated cum laude from Cumberland University on May 5. To qualify to graduate cum laude, the student's grade point average must be between 3.50-3.74.

Cumberland University in Lebanon has one of the longest, richest histories of any higher education institution in the state.

Founded in 1842, the University flourishes today with exceptional faculty and fully-accredited academic programs steeped in the liberal arts, including three distinct schools: the Rudy School of Nursing and Health Professions; the School of Humanities,

Education, and the Arts; and the Labry School of Science, Technology, and Business. With a student body of just over 2,300 and over 500 students living on campus, our unique residential living and learning experience allows students to find their sense of belonging.
