Lynyrd Skynyrd on the road again

NASHVILLE (AP) — Southern rockers Lynyrd Skynyrd will kick off their final tour May 4 in West Palm Beach, Fla., more than 40 years after the band's debut album was released. The Rock & Roll Hall of Famers announced Thursday the farewell tour will also feature Kid Rock, Hank Williams Jr., Bad Company, the Marshall Tucker Band and 38 Special.

Formed in Jacksonville, the band behind hits like "Free Bird," "Sweet Home Alabama" and "Simple Man," was struck by tragedy when a plane crash in 1977 killed lead singer Ronnie Van Zant, guitarist Steve Gaines, backup singer Cassie Gaines and several members of the road crew. The lineup now includes Gary Rossington and Johnny Van Zant, Ronnie's brother. Tickets for the first leg of the tour go on sale Feb. 2 at LiveNation.com.

STATE ROUNDUP

KNOXVILLE (AP) — Tennessee athletics department officials accepted trips and entertainment from a vendor and prospective vendor, according to the state comptroller's office. The comptroller's office said Tennessee's director of sports surface management accepted two paid golf trips from a vendor who had been awarded an equipment lease worth $763,898.

Tennessee athletic department spokesman Tom Satkowiak said the employee received a written warning and letter of admonishment in his personnel file. Also, two unnamed athletic department employees attended one day of The Masters in 2014 as guests of a potential vendor. Tennessee's school policy prevents employees from accepting gifts exceeding $75 in value.

NASHVILLE (AP) — Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam is scheduled to deliver his final State of the State speech.

The Republican will address the state House and Senate this Monday at 6 p.m. The event will be streamed online.

Haslam will wrap up his second four-year term next January. The race to succeed him has drawn five leading Republicans and two Democrats.

Haslam has announced a $30 million plan to address the opioid crisis as one of the top priorities for his final annual legislative session as governor.
