

Pioneers slam Golden Eagles

Friday night the Pioneers took an L, but on Saturday they bounced back.

Warren County improved to 18-5 with a 87-45 trashing of the Shelbyville Golden Eagles.

The Pioneers didn't let a 67-57 loss to Stone Memorial linger. With 14 different players getting on the scoreboard, Warren County made short work of the 1-19 Eagles.

"We got a lot of guys involved," said coach Chris Sullens. "It's something we wanted to focus on, getting an early lead and being on a back-to-back made for the perfect time to get a look at some guys in meaningful minutes."

Isaiah Grayson continued his recent scoring barrage with a team-high 15 points, followed by Tyree Ladet with 13. Other scorers included Eli Jones with 8, Chance Hobbs and Irving Espinoza with 7 each, Austin Hodges, Jerry Mrema and Sloan Seymour with 6 apiece, Raven Lewandowski, Brad Caten and LaCedric Cox with 4 each, Caleb Newby with 3 and Bunker Brock and Eli Buchanan with 2 apiece.

Austin Hodges knocked down a 3-pointer just before halftime to send the Pioneers to the locker rooms ahead 37-14.

An offensive lull in the third quarter – the Pioneers were held to seven points – gave Moore County a brief chance to make a comeback, but Seymour shut the door with eight fourth-quarter points.

Sullens was happy to see his team get one win away from 20 victories, but his focus quickly turned to the upcoming schedule.

"Our team knows exactly what is at stake over the next two weeks," said Sullens. "We must play our best basketball to reach our first goal – a regular season district title. We must be physical and work harder. This is the challenge our group said they wanted from day one. There are no excuses."

Warren County (19-5) will hit the road Friday for its next challenge. The Pioneers will try for a season sweep of Rhea County, which beat Cookeville last Friday 57-53. Tip-off is set for 7:30 p.m.
