Mae seeking home after brush with law

A dog surrendered by its owner after it ran afowl of the law three weeks ago is ready for its second chance.

Mae, an 18-month-old husky mix, was featured in the Southern Standard on May 6 when she broke into her neighbor's yard and killed at least two chickens. She was surrendered to McMinnville Animal Control by her owner and after five days, placed up for adoption with an $85 adoption fee.

"She wasn't adopted," said Warren County Animal Control officer

Deitra Kester. "We have a sponsor for her. They've paid for her neuter and rabies vaccination. She's good to go, but only to the right person."

As one would imagine, she must be kept away from birds.

"We don't want to let her go to a home where she can get in trouble again," said Kester. "They can't live anywhere close to anyone who has chickens or ducks. She's a very sweet dog, but she does have that history to be aware of."

Mae is white and has the blue eyes of a husky. She is very energetic and will need to play and/or be walked daily.

TO OUR AMERICAN HEROES...

Having served alongside some of the finest individuals I've known, I have seen first-hand the incredible sacrifice and contribution made by our nation's service women and men. To the brave forces that have protected our country and to all that continue to ensure our liberties,

I hope you will entrust me with the sheriff's office on election day. I will go to work with over 40 years experience in the military and law enforcement to keep Warren County protected.

Thank You.
