Tennessee Aquarium offers visitors a chance to take a closer look at aquatic creatures with "Oceans 3D: Our Blue Planet" showing at the IMAX 3D Theater.

Dive deep with IMAX 3D movie

For many Tennessee Aquarium guests, gazing into the Secret Reef exhibit is as close to SCUBA diving as they'll ever experience. Visitors can now delve even deeper when "Oceans 3D: Our Blue Planet" premieres at the Tennessee Aquarium IMAX 3D Theater. Shows are daily at noon, 4 and 6 p.m.

This new IMAX film takes audiences on an undersea adventure of a lifetime. Using OceanX's research vessel, the Alucia, as the base of operations, the filmmakers hopped from the frigid waters of the earth's polar regions to the brightly-lit tropical waters of Indo-Pacific. As the journey progresses, viewers are drawn into an unfolding story of the beauty and fragility of the ocean and its inhabitants.

A spectacular pod of Indo-Pacific Bottlenose Dolphins, leaping for joy through the surf, kick off this epic journey from the coastal shallows to deeper, more mysterious worlds.

One of the first stops is a vibrant coral reef. Although these underwater cities cover just 0.1 percent of the ocean's surface area, they are a vital aquatic habitat that houses one quarter of all known sea creatures. Viewers will feel as though they're SCUBA diving among the world's most amazing reefs alongside the BBC Earth film crew that produced this underwater adventure.

As the adventure continues, they'll encounter the ingenious tuskfish. This colorful character actually carries hard-shelled clams to a coral outcrop, which it uses as a tool to crack open its favorite food.

The filmmakers were also able to capture another — previously undocumented — example of aquatic wit. During one memorable scene, viewers will watch in awe as the notoriously intelligent common octopus gathers shells and rocks in its suckers, creating a "suit of armor" to protect itself from sharks and other predators.

While "Oceans 3D's" undersea tour primarily delves into the underwater environments from the Arctic Ocean to Antarctica, it also rises above the waves to capture incredibly intimate moments with creatures like polar bears, walrus and sea otters that live at the interface of land and sea.

FCEC NEWS

BONNER FCEC

Bonner FCE club met on May 8 in the 4-H room with seven members in attendance. Brenda Mitchell read from the book "Breakfast for the Heart" for the devotional and closed with a prayer. Members stood and recited the Pledge of Allegiance. Roll call was answered by each member telling what kind of tree they would like to be and where they would be planted.

Minutes for the April meeting were waived. Linda Nixon gave the financial report. The education leaders report will be given at next meeting. There were no demonstrations or members reports. Mitchell, Connie York, Vita Gulley and Lucy Eastman reported reading books since last meeting.

The Global Day was held in May, with everyone bringing a dish from England, the country to be honored. Nixon and York provided door prizes from our club. Donna Dunlap brought the name tags and drinks.

Everyone was encouraged to have a meal with their family on the Day of the Family. The leadership retreat taking place in Cookeville was discussed.

Everyone was thanked for helping with the bake sale held this month. Members were reminded to bring towels and washcloths for the Fisher House to the county council meeting.

Mitchell entered a poem in the creative writing competition but hasn't heard if she placed.

Dairy Day was held June 13, with everyone bringing dishes for entry in the six categories. We discussed the upcoming Bloodmobile and the work schedule, as well as updating our gold stars.

The meeting was closed with reciting the FCE Creed, with members going to Pizza Hut for lunch.

HICKORY CREEK FCEC

Hickory Creek FCE met May 3 for the regular monthly meeting in the Magnolia Room. The meeting was called to order by President Vicki Gibbs, and she welcomed new member Elaine Summa and guests Lori Yates and Scarlett Gibbs. Chaplain Ann Whitman read the poem "This is My Father's World," and made biblical reference to Genesis 1:1. We were led in the pledge to the flag by Scarlett Gibbs.

Secretary Phyllis Hillis called roll with 17 members and guests answering the question, "If you were a tree, what kind would you be and where would you want to grow?" The minutes from the April meeting were read and approved. Brenda Clark gave the treasury report.

Vice president Davis asked for member reports and demonstrations. Hillis presented the environmental report on Your Healthy Home consisting of suggestions for keeping your house dry, clean, ventilated, pest free and contaminant free, safe and maintained. Janis Darnaby gave everyone a home-made snack, and Vicki Gibbs had a hummingbird feeder for everyone. In addition, Darnaby showed a quilt piece she had made at the quilt club, and Vicki displayed a baby afghan she had crocheted.

Other demonstrations were given by Anamaria Baus, a cute frog made from quilted material which she gave to Victoria. The last demonstration was by Clark showing an ornament made with buttons and a bracelet from tips received at the Grundy County Spring Rally. Everyone reported reading since the last meeting.

Martha McBride asked for hours worked by members for state and club projects. President Gibbs reported on A&R Day. Hickory Creek was presented $75 for first place on scrapbook, and $15 for second place on secretary book. The club also received the Master Club award with 14 members receiving Gold Star awards and 11 perfect attendance awards. Several members also received reading certificates. Eighty seven books for newborns were collected from attending FCE members and $307 was made on the silent auction items. Vinson's Crossroads member Alda Bandy was presented the Best of the Best Award and will compete in the regional. Fourteen members attended the Spring Rally in Grundy County.

The third quarter service project was discussed, with McBride making the motion to send funds to Waldron Missions.

Gibbs announced the club will be in charge of food at the 2019 Visitation Day in March. This will be discussed at future meetings. A productive bake sale was held to benefit the FCE Scholarship, and a fun International Day was enjoyed by all in attendance.

Dairy Day was a fun experience enjoyed by members with good food. A successful county council meeting was held with a fundraiser lunch featuring a taco bar. The group also donated towels and washcloths to the Fisher House.

President Gibbs asked everyone to be thinking of the summer outing in July and bring ideas of places to go.

Anamaria Baus' May birthday was celebrated. Everyone took a few minutes to update gold stars sheets in their yearbook. Remember to continue logging CVU's, hours spent on state projects and collecting drink can taps for the state project. Several members enjoyed lunch at Smooth Rapids before going to Fannie B's for Bingo.

VINSON'S CROSSROADS FCEC

Vinson's Crossroads FCEC met on May 17 in the Magnolia Room. The meeting was called to order by President Frances Hobbs. Vicki Gibbs and Victoria Conley were our guests. Alda Bandy gave the devotional by reading John 14:1-2 and "The Big Picture." Lori Yates led in prayer, and Hobbs led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Roll call was answered with "if you were a tree, what kind would you be and where would you want to grow?" with 14 members and two guests present. Secretary Lori Yates read the minutes from the April 19 meeting, and were approved.

Bandy gave a demonstration on how to make a gift bag out of an envelope. Reading reports were given by Sue Shetley, Naomi Smith and Hobbs. Smith gave members and guests one of her delicious homemade fried pies. There was discussion regarding International Day that was held on May 9. Members thought it was one of the best.

After the Club Creed was read, the meeting was adjourned.

BONNER FCEC

gave the club's financial report.

County agent Lytle gave a report titled "Eat Well-Live Well." She shared facts about hydration and how dehydration affects the body. We should drink half our body's weight in water in ounces each day. If you sweat a lot you should consume more. She prepared water using cucumbers and citrus fruits to share with the group.

Lisa Kenner, our environmental leader, gave her training she got at her meeting. We should keep our homes dry and ventilated, and we should have carbon monoxide monitors in our homes.

She gave us a handout "Household Product Database."

A reading report was given by Mitchell.

Priestley gave everyone a name and address of a military person for us to send a card to. The Bloodmobile was manned by members, Nixon, Mitchell, Irene Fuston and Lisa Keener.

Dairy Day was a success, with many bringing dishes for the contest.

The county council will be meeting on June 18, with everyone wearing patriotic colors. We also donated items to the Fisher House. The meal was furnished by members of the Hickory Creek Club.

Fuston will be attending Family Life Leaders Training on June 27 in the 4-H room.

Our next meeting will be on July 3 at 11 a.m. at the home of Linda Nixon.

We are to bring a sack lunch, with Priestley and Nixon bring desserts.

We updated our gold stars.

Members recited the FCE Creed to close the meeting.

Some of the members went to Wendy's for a meal and time of fellowship.
