

Lifestyles

SUNDAY
JULY 8, 2018

Southern  Standard

McMINNVILLE, TENNESSEE

SIZZLING FOURTH

Margaret Hobbs, Lisa Hobbs and James Clark photos
Siblings, from left, Colin Eckart as President George Washington, Cadence Eckart as Martha Washington and Caysen Eckart are pictured as they prepare for their ride across the Delaware River in the Yankee Doodle Parade. Their efforts earned them first place in their division.

Josie Grissom is a bundle of personality in the girls 6-12 month baby show at Morrison. Josie is held by grandmother Wendy Grissom.

Kate Owens and her dog Jet were a hit in the Yankee Doodle Parade sponsored by Junior Auxiliary of McMinnville.

How many crackers can you stuff in your mouth? For Annabella Culwell, the answer is four. She ate the crackers then tried to whistle.

Craig Molloy hops his way to victory in the kids sack race at Morrison.

Paula's Dance Academy students braved the heat and hot decorative concrete downtown to deliver a stellar performance. They were joined by the Warren County Pionerettes and Junior High Dance Team.

The 3-legged race is a test of speed and coordination. Willow Rooks and Kylar Aplegate eye the finish line in Morrison.

Caleb and Cara Rhoady salute the troops in their Yankee Doodle Parade entry on Main Street.

A mainstay at Midway's Fourth of July activities is homemade ice cream. Serving up this year's selection that included peach and chocolate are, from front, Harper Fuston, Katie Bechtel, Hollyn Fuston, and Hayes Fuston.