Sustaining that energy was tough on a muggy afternoon in Nashville. With just a two-hour break between games, Willmore devised a strategy to keep his team fresh against Cheatham County.

Along with keeping subs waiting at almost every break in action, Willmore also rotated positions in action. Defenders worked up to the midfield, allowing teammates to sink back for a break.

"This was a total team effort with contributions from 14 players. We rotated players in and out of the back four and each made pivotal plays for us," said Willmore. "Rachel Stewart made a number of quality saves for us as well."

Willmore praised the defense of Savannah Cox, Shelby Roberts, Natalie Stepien, Julia Taylor, Sarah Badger and Kade Wilcher, who primarily plays mid-field but was a difference maker on the back end Saturday.

Wilcher also had her moments at midfield, assisting Sam Ramsey, Sarai Ruiz and Sarah Badger control the Cheatham County attack.

Attackers rotated back as well, saving their legs for when Warren County had an opportunity to pounce. Toney again was the leader of the pack.

The freshman continued her scoring onslaught this season with a hat trick, along with adding two assists. Toney now has 13 goals as the team has started 5-4-1.

Ramsey, Mason, Breezy Wanamaker and Journey Cowan added one goal each in the blowout.

The Lady Pioneers will go for a district victory Tuesday on the road. Warren County is set to face Rhea County at 6 p.m.

Kennedi Pegg showed her all-around skills in the second game. The team's top setter caught fire serving, helping the Lady Pioneers gain separation after a slow start. Pegg was also active defensively, including a sliding save at one point that rallied her teammates.

Franklin North fought back to get within 16-14, but Hobbs made sure it wouldn't get any closer.

Hobbs sprinkled in two aces during a seven-point run that got Warren County to the brink of victory.

Leading 24-15, Warren County ended the game on a hard spike from Winkler – who finished with a team-high six kills – that wasn't returned.

Winkler finished with a team-high six kills while also adding four aces. Pegg and Chisam tied for the team lead with seven assists apiece. Chisam was also tops on the team with five aces.
