

Colton Krech, pictured earlier this season, earned a spot in the region tournament by shooting 77 at Monday's district tournament in Cookeville.

Fighting a chilly morning and navigating a damp course, Krech was able to turn in one of the best rounds in the 47-player, nine-team field. Krech finished in a four-way tie for the fifth-best round with Cookeville's Bryce Turnbow, Cumberland County's Hogan Herring and Jarett Glass from White County.

Cookeville, Cumberland County and White County finished in the top three, advancing all their team members automatically and excluding their scores from qualifying individually. Krech was the second automatic qualifier, just behind DeKalb County's Isaac Walker, who shot 74.

Bryson Carwile (Livingston Academy) and Kevin Rothwell (Rhea County) took two more spots with rounds of 78, leaving Craven to battle for a final spot with Soddy Daisy's Zane Penny.

Craven and Penny matched each other shot-for-shot for two holes before Penny was able to break the tie on a third playoff hole to send the Pioneer home.

Krech will be back in action next week. The region tournament will be held Monday, Sept. 17 at Cleveland Country Club. If Krech is able to advance again, the state tournament is set to be played at Willowbrook Golf Course Sept. 25-26.

Valeria Vargas represented Warren County at last year's event, but has since signed to play for Trevecca. Warren County has had a team or individual qualify for the state tournament in four of the last five years.

Titans lose Walker, wait for two starters to heal

NASHVILLE (AP) — The Tennessee Titans have lost their three-time Pro Bowl tight end Delanie Walker at least for a big chunk of the season.

Quarterback Marcus Mariota is being evaluated after hurting his throwing arm, and two-time Pro Bowl left tackle Taylor Lewan is in the concussion protocol.

And that's just the latest injuries for the Titans.

Now Tennessee has to see who's healthy enough for the home opener Sunday against AFC South rival Houston (0-1) and adapt accordingly.

"What we're going to do every week is try to figure out what gives us the best chance to win, personnel wise, who we have available, maybe who we're playing obviously," rookie coach Mike Vrabel said Monday.

"We'll be flexible enough to use any personnel that we think will help us win. I don't think we can commit to anything right now."

The Titans already are down starting right tackle Jack Conklin, who was inactive against Miami as he recovers from a torn left ACL repaired in January.

On defense, starting line-

Delanie Walker, pictured in a previous game, could be done for the season after suffering an ankle injury in Sunday's loss.

backer Derrick Morgan played only 14 snaps in the Titans' 27-20 loss in Miami as the Titans work the veteran back in after a preseason injury.

Tennessee's top two draft picks also are linebackers, and Rashaan Evans and Harold Landry both missed the opener with injuries.

Mariota is being evaluated after he lost sensation in his right hand after the game from his injured right elbow. He was intercepted twice — both after taking a hit from Dolphins defensive lineman William Hayes following a handoff. Vrabel said they're hopeful of getting a good report back on Mariota's arm.

The Titans put Walker on injured reserve Monday and the tight end will have surgery on his right ankle in the next few days. Walker came into the season with the most catches in the NFL by a tight end between 2013 and 2017.

Vrabel said the Titans will evaluate Walker's potential to return this season after surgery.
