The Cookeville offense gained its momentum from QB Blaine Espinosa and RB Jaedan McAllister. They were able to bulldoze the Pioneers.

The Cavs (2-1) scored on their first offensive play as McAllister broke a tackle at the line and scampered 66 yards for a TD.

Jacobs Stamps scored the TD on Cookeville's second possession, capping a nine-play drive with a 3-yard dart up the middle to find the end-zone, 14-0.

Warren County answered with its lone scoring drive, marching 71 yards on 12 plays. Haywood had the Pioneer offensive play of the night when he hit a hole on the right side, bounced it to the sideline, and raced downfield for a 55-yard gain.

It appeared Haywood might go the distance, but a defender with the angle was able to drag him down from behind at the 26-yard line. A roughing the passer penalty allowed the Pioneers to advance to the 11, their deepest penetration of the game, and kicker Tony Curtis booted in the only Warren County points from 28 yards out.

It was 14-3 with 10:35 left in the second quarter.

Espinosa would take over from there, leading the Cavs with poise and an arm like slingshot. Espinosa showed he could make all the throws as he was able to stand tall in the pocket and deliver the ball with accuracy. Two of his three incompletions were dropped passes.

"He's a big kid with a strong arm," said Cookeville coach Jimmy Maynard of his QB. "A really underrated part of his game is his ability to run."

Espinosa was especially effective on quarterback draws where he would drop to pass and appear ready to throw before pulling the ball down and barreling upfield. At 6-foot-2 and 215 pounds, Espinosa is as big as most Warren County players and he didn't shy away from contact.

The Pioneer defense created some big plays and recovered all three of Cookeville's fumbles. The Cavs fumbled on their first two possessions of the second half.

Coach Moore said the Pioneers must show better preparation during the week if they hope to have better results on Friday night.

"We really didn't have a good week of practice," said Moore. "We're starting eight or nine sophomores and they have to learn that they need to practice well if they're going to play well. It's hard to simulate going against an offense and defense as good as Cookeville's if you don't have a good week of practice. That's an area where we need to improve."

Warren County will turn its attention to homecoming week and a game against Shelbyville this Friday night at Nunley Stadium. The homecoming parade will begin at 1:30 p.m. Friday afternoon at Tire Mart and travel the length of Main Street.

Homecoming festivities will include the crowning of a king and queen during halftime. After three games on the road, it will be Warren County's first home game this year.

Covenant continues conference dominance

Covenant Academy is excelling at winning the games that matter the most.

The Lady Lion volleyball team kept its record perfect in Middle Tennessee Athletic Conference play Tuesday at home, downing visiting Lancaster Christian 25-4, 25-13 and 25-18. The win improved Covenant to 7-7 overall but, more importantly, 4-0 in conference play.

Coach Chris Madewell has challenged his team with a stacked schedule early, hoping it would pay dividends when the team got to the conference tournament. His plan seems to be working, with Covenant fighting back to defeat West Academy on the road last week before dominating Lancaster at home.

"I feel like we're maturing as a team with each game we play," Madewell said after last week's win over West Academy. "We don't hang our heads when we get down. The girls did what they needed to do to come back."

Tuesday's game didn't need a comeback.

Covenant dominated from the start, getting 16 straight service points from Madisen Madewell at one point in the first set.

another easy win. After falling behind by seven in the third set, Madewell moved back to his starters.

wasted little time coming back and shutting the door.

The Lady Lions will tangle with local rival Boyd at home Tuesday. The tri-match, which will also include Webb, is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m.
