

Libraries holding book, video sale

DUANE SHERRILL
Editor Smithville Review
Smithville, Tennessee

If you have books you are ready to part with, this may be a good time to share the joy of reading with others in DeKalb County. The Alexandria and Justin Potter libraries are getting set for a book sale, letting go of some of their inventory to make room for new books. The book sale will continue through Saturday, Sept. 29 during regular business hours at the two libraries. There will be books, audio books, videos and magazines for sale at great prices. The libraries are accepting donations of books and movies that are in good condition for their book sale. They request no textbooks, magazines or encyclopedias be donated. "Come by and check out what the libraries have to offer," encouraged Potter Librarian Kathy Hendrixson. For additional information, contact Justin Potter Library at 615-597-4359 or the Alexandria Library at 615-529-4124. Visit us at dekalblibraries.net or Facebook.

DUANE SHERRILL
Editor Smithville Review
Smithville, Tennessee

Newly installed Smithville Mayor Josh Miller has made his decisions on his cabinet members who will serve the city in various roles and on the many boards. At the top of the list was designating alderman Danny Washer as Vice Mayor. Along with being named second in command, Washer was also named Water and Sewer Commissioner.

Hilton Conger was re-installed as city attorney while fellow attorney, Alderman Gayla Hendrix was named Finance and Taxation Commissioner. Although just named to the board the same night, taking the place of former Alderman, now Mayor Josh Miller, Donnie Crook was named Sanitation Department Commissioner. Alderman Shawn Jacobs was named Police and Fire Commissioner while Brandon Cox, attending his first meeting as an alderman, was named to the 911 board as well as Streets and Safety Commissioner. The mayor named himself to some boards and commissions, joining Kim Luton and Dwayne Snow on the planning commission, joining Dr. Steven Cooper on the Industrial Board and joining Jason Murphy on the Smithville Electric System Board. The beer board saw Ferron Hendrix joining its number while Wade Smith, Eddie Hobson and Gayla Hendrix were added to zoning appeals.
