HOME HEALTH CARE
FROM MY
SENIOR ADVOCACY TEAM
HELPS ME STAY THAT WAY

After Mom's stroke I didn't know who to turn to for help. She wanted to stay in her own home, but I just didn't know how she could manage on her own anymore. The Senior Advocacy Care Team and the transitional care program planning process provided solutions for all the care she needed: nursing, therapy, and even a home health aide. I stopped worrying and the end result is wonderful. My Mother is so happy and safe.

If you walk into Danny Martin's office at Security Federal Savings Bank, you'll immediately notice his collection of UT Vols memorabilia. Unlike most UT football fans, Danny was once a starting defensive back for the Vols and has played with a lot of good athletes over the years.

After graduating from the University of Tennessee in 1981, banking brought him back to McMinnville.

"At that time, Bill Johnson and Jeff Golden, who were both involved in banking, gave me an opportunity to get started in banking," said Danny. "I never dreamed I would be in this field, but I chose to come home and work for City Bank and Trust."

As Danny entered the world of banking, his education continued. He attended Vanderbilt University's Owen Graduate School of Management, as well as the Graduate School of Banking at Louisiana State University.

Danny started as an officer trainee, which is a basic training program including collection, teller work and lending. Now, he is a senior vice president and loan officer at Security Federal with a grand total of 37 years in banking under his belt.

"As you've been in it longer, the most rewarding part is getting to wait on somebody's parents, their children and then their grandchildren," explained Danny. "When they come back and say 'You gave me my first loan' and then they bring in their son or daughter and I have the opportunity to keep that tradition going and help them fulfill their dreams."

Danny is involved in Meals on Wheels and has served on its advisory board. He strongly believes in the importance of community involvement and helping those in need. Through Meals on Wheels, 85 to 100 people are fed a day. Danny has also enjoyed being a member of Noon Rotary Club.

"Rotary has been good for me," said Danny. "You have the opportunity to interact with businessmen throughout the community and learn a lot from the great speakers who keep you updated with what is happening not only in Warren County but throughout Tennessee and the world."

In addition, Danny is a part of the Warren County Utility Board, the Warren County Audit Board, and the Warren County Sports Hall of Fame Committee. He's been a member and church treasurer for East End Drive Church of Christ for a number of years.

During his free time, Danny enjoys occasional horseback riding. Although he doesn't coach anymore, he reflected fondly of his time working with the middle school and high school teams.

"Sports has been my life on the side and I used to coach and umpire games," said Danny. "I was very involved in sports for the longest and I loved it."

Danny has been married to his wife, Terri, for 18 years and together they have a son, Dustin Martin, and stepdaughter, Summer Bernett.

Danny revealed he is 59 years old and when asked about the future he laughed and quickly responded, "I'm looking forward to retirement. I don't have a time frame, but it is getting closer!"
