

Women of Note

— Free Preview

By Helen Vogt Greene

The date to save is Monday, Oct. 1, at 7 p.m. at Palm Beach Central High School Auditorium, 8499 Forest Hill Blvd., Wellington. This is your opportunity to see the talented women's group called, the well-deserved, Women of Note.

The award winning Women of Note are inviting their supporters, friends neighbors and visiting strangers to the upcoming international competition dress rehearsal.

The free performance will include the chorus competition 'package' and the Women of Note favorites. As part of the Sweet Adeline International, according to Lynn Serratore, member with the longest number of years with the group, "the Women of Note won the AA Division. This allowed the honor and privilege to perform, for only the second time, at International."

The Women of Note was founded in 1966 with Holly St. John as it's director. When Ms. St. John retired, the highly professional and qualified Mitchell Greenberg joined the Women of Note as director.

The membership is made of women from all walks of life. There are teachers, bakers and candlestick makers. The mission for each member is the same. To be known for their musical excellence, education, practice, local performances, and a passion for singing as the high-quality four-part a cappella barbershop Women of Note.

The music includes the widest range from the classics, country, gospel and fun favorites. The unique styling and presentations has earned the Women of Note this trip to the International Competition.

The 50 members of the Women of Note will leave for St. Louis, Missouri on October 13. They will compete on October 16 and 17. According to Serratore, "The International Competition produces only those that have earned their way to St. Louis. Women of Note always work hard and do their very best."

They will present a Hurricane Package filled with color, talent, smiles and the barbershop harmony of the angels. They are working on the 'surge waves' of approval.

Remember, October 1, Palm Beach Central High School Main Auditorium located at 8499 Forest Hill Blvd., pass the turnpike overpass. Support the Women of Note!

Dual Stream Recycling Returns to Lake Worth

Dual stream recycling in Lake Worth October 1. Two bins will replace the large recycling totes on wheels used in the single stream system. Some residents have expressed they will have difficulty carrying the bins to the curb. Here a resident has found a solution. These carts are available at local hardware stores.
