Start with fresh eggs from a local farm. If you can meet gathering, full of people who the hens, all the better. Farm love and respect one another, eggs are always tastier than industrial eggs, but a truly fresh egg is almost impossible to peel. An easy solution to this problem; store the Eggs. If perfectly centered yolks are your goal, store the eggs on their sides. Bring the eggs to room temperature before cooking; this will reduce cracking. Adding salt to the cooking water will help the eggs shell easier.

Put your eggs in a pot that will hold them in a single layer. You don't want them bouncing around in the water and cracking into one another. Cover the eggs with cold water and a large pinch of salt. Bring to a boil. Cover the pot tightly and turn off the heat. Let large eggs sit for 12 minutes; medium eggs for 9 and extra-large eggs for

Drain immediately and cool completely under running water. Peel right after cooling by tapping the egg on the counter until the shell is finely crackled all over. Roll the egg between your hands to loosen the shell. Start peeling with the large end and peel under cold running water to help loosen the
