THURSDAY, OCTOBER

Trojans to play in AA Championship, Jaguars set to play Titans Fri. Trojans fall to Rebels, 28-27 Jaguars beat Chargers, 56-0

The Central Holmes Trojans suffered their third loss of the season Friday, October 19, at the hands of the Carroll Academy Rebels with a heart breaking score of 28-27. Pictured above: Central Holmes senior, Ethan Ables, #25, wide receiver, avoids a tackle to gain yards during the game. The Trojans will play in the MAIS Class AA Football Championship on Friday, October 26, in Lexington against Clinton Academy.

(Photo by Amy Lindsay)

Lexington Colts set for season closer on Saturday

Homecoming for the Lexington Colts was Saturday, October 20 at Holmes County Central High School field. They faced the Lauderdale Boys and Girls Club. All three teams fell to Lauderdale, 14-0, but the Rookie and Midget Teams will advance to the final which is Saturday, October 27, against Newton. Winning this district game, final game of the season, for the Rookies could qualify them for playoffs. Rookie team members pictured above include: Bobby Jenkins, #35, Montrell Skinner, #53, JeMarkus Mayze, #68, Keshawn Wright, #21, and Jermaine Landfair, #88.

(Photo by Sherri Reeves)

Solid Waste Notice as Required by Section 17-17-348 of Mississippi Code 1972 Annotated Fiscal Year Ending 09/30/2018

REVENUE

Solid Waste Income $ 122,570

EXPENSES

Personnel 19,587 Supplies 11,588 Contractual/Other $ 101,484

TOTAL EXPENDITURES $ 132,659

GARBAGE COLLECTED BY City of Lexington 112 Spring Street

Lexington, MS 39095

Dumpster trash is collected by the City of Lexington and disposed by Waste Pro of Greenwood, MS.

> City of Lexington 112 Spring Street Lexington, MS 39095 662-834-1261 or fax 662-834-3490 lexingtoncityof@bellsouth.net

The Holmes County Central High School Jaguars continue in their season with a 8-1 record after defeating the Callaway Chargers, 56-0 on Friday, October 18 in Jackson. Pictured above, Jaguars freshman running back, Jerell Boyd, #29, ploughs past the opposition during last Friday's game. The Jaguars are set to go up against the Ridgeland High School Titans this Friday, October 26, in Ridgeland. Jaguars pictured above are (from left): Joseph Crawford, #68, Rickey LAcey, #18, and Martavious Stewart, #50.

(Photo by Avery Rucker)

(Continued from page 1.) rewarding to see our students so overwhelmingly and enthusiastically embrace this tremendous opportunity.

"I am excited about this community collaboration and the experiences our students will gain as well as the measurable impact this M Partner event will have upon our partner communities."

Besides the day of service on Saturday, business development forums are set for Tuesday and Wednesday (Oct. 16 and 17) in New Albany and Charleston. These forums are hosted in partnership with the Entrepreneur Center at the Mississippi Development Authority, as well as the university's Insight Park and McLean Institute for Public Service and Community Engagement.

Transportation and lunch will be provided at the business forums. To register, email mclean@olemiss.edu or mlcoope4@ olemiss.edu.

Aden Wigley October 20

Cassie Cothran Jonathan McClellan November 17

Court Square 834-2721 Lexington

sion for M Partner in his love about their cities, as November 2016 inaugu- well as their economic ral address, noting the development, education, considerable potential in community channeling the talents of and beautification ideas the university to support in meetings the institute towns and cities as they has conducted with partwork together to improve ner cities over the last few community life. Service months, said Laura Marefforts such as M Partner tin, M Partner director and Community Day will be associate director of the complemented by faculty members teaching academic courses that align Partner Community Day with priority projects will be an opportunity to identified by community contribute to the beautimembers.

is only the beginning. M Partner will act as a pilot program for up to two volunteers to see how years. The Division of Di-their efforts in this day of versity and Community Engagement has a lead much larger communityrole in M Partner, and university initiative." administrators have been working to find commu- to each community to help nity goals for the program with beautification and through ongoing discus- landscaping, and they will sions in each of the three even work Charleston's began over the summer, per, the AmeriCorps VISwhen students in the TA supporting M Partner. McLean Institute's Catalyzing Entrepreneurship from these towns will and Economic Develop- talk with volunteers and ment initiative worked leaders about life in their with youth from each M towns and the importance Partner city to help them of this day to them personunderstand how the entre- ally to provide perspecpreneurial mindset can be tive to the helpers, Cooper used to address challeng- said. es. Faculty members from dents.

Community neur Center and the Mis-tion." sissippi Main Street Asso-Vitter laid out the vi- sionately about what they well-being McLean Institute.

"We are thrilled that M fication projects identi-The work to this point fied by each community," Martin said. "And we are excited for our student service are connected to a

Volunteers will be sent Gateway to the Delta Fes-M Partner programs tival, said Michaela Coo-

Some Ole Miss students

"On days of service, the Ole Miss departments it is vital that we conof Sociology and An- stantly think about how to thropology and Manage- maintain the sustainabilment; the School of Law; ity of these partnerships and the Sally McDonnell and how to bring lessons Barksdale Honors College learned from our partner worked with those stu- communities back to our campus," Cooper said. partners "We plan to accomplish including the James C. this by making this not Kennedy Wellness Center, just a day of community Mississippi Development service, but also a day of Authority - The Entrepre- reflection and a call to ac-

More information about ciation have pitched in as the M Partner program is available at http://mpart-Locals have spoken pas- ner.olemiss.edu/.