Walk of Honorees to be unveiled March 22

Special to The Clinton Courier

On March 22 at 10 a.m., the City of Clinton will honor thirteen Clintonians who have been recognized for achievements of excellence in their field at the local, state, or national level. Many of the honorees have received prestigious awards, and all of them either grew up in Clinton or spent time in Clinton during the span of their achievement of excellence in their area of expertise.

That Thursday morning, bronze plaques describing each honoree's story will be unveiled. The plaques can be viewed on the "Walk of Honorees" located on the one-mile Quisenberry Library Trail at the Quisenberry Library, located at 605 East Northside Drive.

Everyone is invited to attend the celebration at the walking trail, and the honorees and their families have been invited to attend, as well. Honorees for the ceremony include: Nevada Barr, Lance Bass, Terri Blackstock, Jeff Brantley, Jimmy Byrd, Keith Carlock, Ted DiBiase, Sr., Ted DiBiase, Jr., Dr. Samuel Marshall Gore, Barry Hannah, Larry Myricks, James Selater and Wyatt Waters.

The "Walk of Honorees" Committee selected as honorees those Clintonians who they felt best met the following criteria of excellence: excellence in the fields of visual or performing art, sports, science, and writing; the extent to which the person has had a profound and enduring effect at a local, statewide, or national level; and the extent to which each person's work enhances Clinton's image. The committee will select additional individuals each year. For more information, call 601-924-2221.
