CCA students participate in MC ceramics class

Special to The Clinton Courier

Clinton Christian Academy high school Art I and II students recently attended a special ceramics class at Mississippi College. The class was led by ceramics teacher Ray Gregory, and each student got to sit at a pottery wheel and create their own piece of pottery. After class, students toured the Gore Galleries, where gallery director Randy Jolly spoke with them about the special exhibits. Each student was given an opportunity to create an original textile art inspired by an artist on exhibit.
