Summer renovations at MC

servation projects on the Clinton campus include the replacement of HVAC units.

Work will continue at several of MC's landmark buildings at the 192-year-old university. Opened in 1860, Provine Chapel will see its majestic front columns undergo repairs and new finishes. Provine Chapel remains the oldest building on campus. Alumni Gym's upper east windows will be the first ones replaced.

In addition, renovations include adding a larger classroom in Cockcroft Hall, home of the School of Nursing. Classrooms/meeting rooms in Nelson Hall, the university's administration building, will be renovated in the coming weeks.

There will be projects scheduled this summer to repair and paint the Latimer House. The facility provides overnight lodging to Mississippi College alumni and other special guests.

Also on the to-do list: the former WHJT radio station studio in the Aven Fine Arts Building will be converted into new lab space for the Department of Communication. New counseling rooms will be constructed at the Dyslexia Center near MC soccer fields.

Football fans may notice improvements to sports facilities. Workers will replace the damaged filming platform at Robinson-Hale Stadium. The MC Choctaws kick off their 2018 football season at home against Clark Atlanta on August 30.
