

Tom Anderson Brings Magic To The Fair

Harry Houdini knew the secret to his trade, which is everyone loves magic. It's intriguing to see a rabbit being pulled from a hat. Whether one just enjoys the illusion or is a skeptic trying to figure out the trick, magic intrigues us all.

The award winning master illusionist and comedy magician Tom Anderson will be thrilling audiences at the Clay County Fair.

There are three shows scheduled on Saturday, July 14, at the band shelter. They can be seen at 10:00 a.m. and again at noon and 3:30 p.m.

Each show will feature magic tricks with live animals, such as doves and rabbits.

A great family magic show can be expected with classic 1800s magic.

Tom enjoys performing at the Clay County Fair since he has family ties to the area. His mother, Josephine Kava, graduated from Barnesville High School.

Tom admits that he enjoys calling up relatives on stage and torturing them up front.

The show is free! Come be amazed and thrilled by illusionist Tom Anderson. An added bonus, you could be part of the show or learn a new history fact.
