"I believe that every person has talent."

-Maya Angelou

There you have it. Whether your talent is singing, playing an instrument, telling jokes, sleight of hand, dancing, storytelling or sawing your Uncle Billy into thirds, there's a place for you at the Clay County Fair.

Once again this year, the fair talent show is the opening entertainment event on Thursday, July 12, at the band shelter. Clay County's platform for yet undiscovered entertainers is scheduled to begin at 7:00 p.m.

The talent show contest is open to all amateur entertainers. There is no fee to participate. Pre-registration is preferred, but not required.

Performers are asked to be at the band shelter at 6:00 p.m. and complete an application.

The contest is divided into three categories: preteen, for ages 12 and below; teen, for ages 13 to 18; and open division, available for any age.

All contestants will be judged on quality of performance, stage presence, entertainment value, and selection. The Clay County Fair Talent Show adheres to the guidelines set by the Minnesota State Fair Amateur Talent Show.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners in each division along with the chance to compete at the Minnesota

State Fair.
