Every team's greatest strength should be in the trenches. Games are won or lost up front. The Chargers should be solid on the offensive line this year. Pack has three players who are not only strong and agile but also experienced.

It will help the running game and the pass protection to have that kind of experience on the offensive line.

"Right now I have three guys who were either starters as seventh-graders or who had significant playing time," the head coach said. "Jayden Johns, Micah Daniels and Luke Brown all started or began having playing time halfway through last season. That is definitely going to be a big plus for us. Christian Ingram and Austin Brent will have to be my guards. We played five junior varsity games last year and they played in all of those."

The head coach will make changes to his starting 11 on both sides of the ball over the course of the season but, as it stands, he plans to play the same 11 on offense and defense. No head coach wants to do that, but there are circumstances that force them to.

"It is not an ideal situation," Pack said. "With the depth we have right now, that is just the way it has to be. We have some very capable subs who will get some playing time, which will be mostly on defense — probably. That is the way it is for us. It will be the same guys who had playing time for us last year."

Martin will open the season tonight at home against Milan and the Chargers will be at Medina on Aug. 21 as they begin a three-game road swing, which includes playing at Crockett County and Dresden.

The Chargers will be back at home on Sept. 6 to take on Dyersburg, followed by home games against Henry County and Union City. They will end the regular season at Paris Imnam on Sept. 27.
