Then sign up online at obioncountycornfest.org for the 2018 Obion County CornFest Cornhole Tournament.

The fun will get under way at 1 p.m. and last for a couple of hours Sept. 22 at Kiwanis Park as part of Family Day in the Park celebration.

Teams can win cash prizes and fans can watch for free at the event, according to chairman Trey Wood. First prize will be $250, followed by $150 for second place and $75 for third place.

The game itself is about 100 years old and it has made a strong come back in the past few years. It seems no community celebration is complete without the competition, and that is certainly true of this crowd-favorite at Family Day in the Park.

Trey Wood of Union City has been volunteering with the local festival for 15 years. He is employed at Wood Communications. He has one son, Cohen Wood. He assists other organizations with their cornhole tournaments, including Obion County Walk of Hope. He is a member of Cumberland Presbyterian Church and coaches youth baseball and football.
