

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS — Elected officials with offices located at the Obion County Courthouse recently participated in several Christmas parades in the county, including the very first one in Kenton. County clerk Crystal Crain served as the driver, while register of deeds Cheryl Reddin (left) and property assessor Judy Smith tossed candy to the parade-goers who lined the streets. Following the parade, everyone was invited to Kenton Gym to meet with Santa and to enjoy cookies and hot chocolate while they shopped with local vendors.

ENTERTAINER — State Rep. Bill Sanderson of Kenton played his bugle and welcomed parade-goers to Kenton during the first Christmas parade of the season there earlier this month.

SPEEDY SELF-DELIVERY — Kandace Hodge of Hornbeak was all dressed up as a Christmas present while pedaling her way down Obion's Christmas parade route. Although she didn't have headlights, she didn't need any with the LED lights she wound around her bicycle's frame. Escorting the precious cargo, her grandmother, Pam Crone of Obion, walked alongside her.

MEETING SANTA — Eighteen-month-old Zara Haivyn-Owens could not wait for Santa to get off the firetruck and into Kenton Gym at the Kenton Christmas parade earlier this month. She and Marsha Yates of Kenton greeted him on the sidewalk in front of the building. Zara is the daughter of Zach and Madison Owens of Kenton.
