

Friendly faces can be seen on the Hill every year.

out for donuts. You need to have an incentive. They would remind us if we forgot," Jean explained, from the other side of the camera.

A few more highlights from Jean's view out on Steamer Hill are the National Carousel group that visited the Showgrounds. She was fascinated by how Lance Johnson punches holes to make music for the Merry-go-round. "I love watching Larren Unruh in costume pulling a bunny out of his hat and watching the carvers as well. Such art; such detail," Jean shared.

I hope you enjoyed the view of Steamer Hill through a Photographer's eye and the stories behind these split second still moments that inspired Jean to capture them.
