Lander to host Grad School/Career Fair in the fall, registration now open

Lander University is inviting employers and graduate school representatives to take part in the university's annual Grad School and Career Fair set for Wednesday, Oct. 9.

The recruiting event attracts highly qualified candidates from the university's undergraduates who are exploring career options in their field of study, or considering advancing their education to pursue a graduate level degree. The fair is open to current Lander students and young alumni.

"Last year we had a record number of businesses and graduate schools attend with representatives traveling from across the region to meet with our students," said Amanda Morgan, Director of Career Services.

Grad School/Career Fair will be held from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. inside the Grier Student Center located on Lander University's campus. Recruiters should register now if planning to participate.

To learn more about this event, contact the Office of Career Services by calling 864-388-8404 or visit Lander's website at www.lander.edu/careerservices.
