Old Hickory – For Weddings Too!

Old Hickory custom cooks and caters weddings, rehearsal dinners, family reunions (large or small) and company picnics. "Since 1918, our dedication to providing the finest quality mutton, pork, pork ribs, beef, ham, chicken and various side dishes has never slackened", said John Foreman, owner of Old Hickory. This was made possible only by keeping one thing in mind over the years: They produce consistently first-rate barbecue, there can be neither shortcuts nor compromise.

The old methods of cooking barbeque began with Charles "Pappy" Foreman, an Owensboro blacksmith who put aside the tools of his trade in 1918 and began barbecuing mutton on a pit located at 25th and Frederica. Old Hickory, named in 1954, has retained its family quality, such as cooking exclusively with hickory wood. "Only hickory wood seems to embody our meats with the unique, distinctive flavor that Owensboro natives recognize immediately as good barbecue" stated John. "Only through combining of hickory smoke and our special blend of barbecue sauce, (applied regularly during the cooking process) are we assured in achieving the highest standards for excellent barbecue".

There are quicker, less expensive, easier ways of getting the job done, but none of them are as satisfying to us-or to you", John said. "More could be said, but good food speaks its own language. Find out for yourself! We also have a new banquet room to accommodate rehearsal dinners, meetings, or private parties"
