

Disaster Makeovers

You had a fire at your home, now what? Whether it's a fire or water damage that causes minimal damage or totally destroys your home, you need to be equipped with knowledge of what to expect and what your next steps are going to be if it happens. Although everyone hopes and prays it never happens to them, Disaster Team in Owensboro is truly a one-stop-shop when a disaster hits. These folks are a professional restoration and construction company who handles everything with a disaster from start to finish, and they're very considerate about your loss, which can help put your mind at ease. "For years we've estimated and repaired several homes and businesses in surrounding counties to include: Daviess, Hancock, Ohio, Breckinridge, Henderson, Hopkins, McLean, Muhlenberg, Perry, Spencer and more."

Disaster Team is certified by the Institute of Inspection, Cleaning and Restoration Certification (IICRC), and provides industry-recognized training classes for restoration contractors, adjusters, and insurance agents in their training classroom located right at their main office. "We are serious about education and training. Our restoration personnel hold IICRC certifications and participate in rigorous training programs annually to maintain current certifications," stated Amber Farmer, Marketing Representative. Disaster Team, Inc.

They're also very serious about being properly equipped. Amber explained that Disaster Team has a full Fireline Ultra-sonic cleaning system as well as a state-of-the-art electronics cleaning and deodorization system. In using those systems they can restore personal belongings and electronics to pre-loss condition quickly and efficiently. "This system enables us to fully restore items. We restore the clients' items and properly store them inside our secure climate controlled facility until the home is ready for us to deliver the contents." Amber stated. "Disaster Team is experienced, dedicated to quality, knowledge, and our equipment sets us apart from the rest."

Disaster Team's estimators work with homeowners and/or businesses and insurance companies to determine the cost of the repairs required for restoring the property. The homeowner files the claim to get the process started. If it is an insurance loss then the Disaster Team estimator will meet with the homeowner and the adjuster to assess and photograph damages of the property. They obtain measurements of the affected areas of the structure, discuss concerns regarding the repairs, and agree on the scope of the repairs with the adjuster. The estimator utilizes this information to complete a detailed repair estimate, including all work to be completed by Disaster Team and reach an agreed cost of repair with the homeowner and the insurance company. "Our estimators typically utilize Xactimate®, an estimating platform utilized by most insurance company's and restoration contractors, to estimate the cost of restoring your property," said Amber.

Skilled Disaster Team "on staff" repair technicians, as well as subcontractors, provide fast and high quality service. All repair technicians and subcontractors working on your property are properly licensed and insured. Disaster Team is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
