State releases January 2019 county unemployment data

Unemployment rates fell in 37 Kentucky counties between January 2018 and January 2019, rose in 72, and stayed the same in 11 counties, according to the Kentucky Center for Statistics (KYSTATS), an agency of the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

Woodford County recorded the lowest jobless rate in the Commonwealth at 3.1 percent. It was followed by Fayette County, 3.3 percent; Oldham and Shelby counties, 3.4 percent each; Scott County, 3.5 percent; Boone and Spencer counties, 3.6 percent each; Anderson County, 3.7 percent; Campbell, Franklin, Henderson, Jessamine, Kenton and Madison counties, 3.8 percent each.

Magoffin County recorded the state's highest unemployment rate at 14.2 percent. It was followed by Lewis County, 10.1 percent; Carter County, 10 percent; Elliott County, 9.8 percent; Menifee County, 8.9 percent; Fulton County, 8.8 percent; Wolfe County, 8.6 percent; Lawrence County, 8 percent; Breathitt County, 7.8 percent; Bath and Livingston counties, 7.7 percent each.

Kentucky's county unemployment rates and employment levels are not seasonally adjusted because of small sample sizes. Employment statistics undergo sharp fluctuations due to seasonal events such as weather changes, harvests, holidays and school openings and closings. Seasonal adjustments eliminate these influences and make it easier to observe statistical trends. The comparable, unadjusted unemployment rate for the state was 4.5 percent for January 2019, and 4.4 percent for the nation.

Kentucky's seasonallyadjustedunemployment rate was released last week and can be viewed at https://kentucky.gov/Pages/Activity-stream.aspx?n=E ducationCabinet&pr Id=298. In that release, Kentucky's statewide unemployment rate and employment levels are adjusted to observe statistical trends by removing seasonal influences such as weather changes, harvests, holidays and school openings and closings. For more information regarding seasonal fluctuations, visit the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics at https://www. bls.gov/cps/cps_htgm. htm#why. Unemployment statistics are based on on the charges of Failestimates and are com- ure to Report a Traffic rather than actually to Owner to Maintain Recount people working. Civilian labor force statistics include nonmilitary workers and unemployed Kentuckians who are actively seeking work. They do not include unemployed Kentuckians who have not looked for employment within the past four weeks. The data should only same month in previous years.

Green Co. Genealogical Society is seeking new memberships

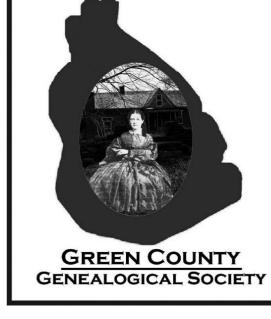

By Laura Johnson SPECIAL TO THE R-H

Green County Genealogical Society is a non-profit organization dedicated to preserving the stories of the past through accurate research and documentation with membership open to anyone interested in genealogy of Green and surrounding counties. Members receive four quarterly issues of the society's publication, The Green County Journal, packed with local family history. Contributions, such as family genealogies, articles, marriage, Bible, will & probate, cemetery, deed, court, and other records, are accepted to be used in the quarterly.

Research queries are free and published as space permits. Members also receive a 20% discount on all Society publications and items available for

The Society has annual events such as a summer picnic held in a different location each year with a history presentation on the area.

For many years, the Society has also hosted a fall book fair, selling their own items, as well as inviting surrounding county historical and genealogical groups to vend their publications.

The group will be doing their fourth annual cemetery tour this fall. Special events are planned when available, such as presenters and location tours.

Meetings are held on the second Thursday of each month at 5 p.m. in the Green County Public Library community room. Annual dues are $25 per person.

To join for 2019, send payment to P.O. Box273, Greensburg, KY 42743. Please include address, phone number, email, and a note on which families you are research-
