

KSP Teddy Project

Photo submitted

Troopers Nick Hale, Jonathan Houk and Scott Curry, Kentucky State Police Post 15, provided teddy bears to children at Taylor Regional Hospital Wednesday. Troopers across the state delivered bears to children who are hospitalized, suffering from severe or terminal illness. The public can support this program by making a monetary donation or purchasing a 'Trooper Teddy' bear. The KSP Trooper Teddy Project is part of a non-profit program designed to aid children during stressful times. Tax-deductible contributions can be made to the Trooper Teddy Project, Public Affairs Branch, 919 Versailles Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. When KSP troopers encounter young children, it is often part of a traumatic situation such as a car crash, drug or domestic abuse cases which sometimes result in the arrest of the parent. KSP hopes their 'Trooper Teddy' bears will serve as a tool to calm innocent children they find in these circumstances.
