

Fun Days

Parade lineup will begin at 2 p.m. in the field near the drive-in. Three-and-four wheelers will line up across from the drive-in. Go-carts and pedal-cars will line up at the laundromat.

The parade will begin at 3 p.m. Kentucky State Representative Brandon Reed will be the 2019 S-ville Fun Days Parade Grand Marshal. The parade, which will grant one parade entrant with a $50 prize, will end at Summersville Memory Gardens Cemetery. Voting will be open for Mr. and Mrs. Summersville until 5 p.m. Saturday at T-Mart and Caterpillar Crossing. Votes are one cent each.

Action will head back to the auction tent after 5 p.m.

All raffle drawings will be held at 5:15 p.m. and the new Mr. and Mrs. Summersville Days will be crowned at 6 p.m.

The Long Haul Award will be given to an unknowing individual at 6:15 p.m. Anyone traveling a great distance to the Fun Days Auction, should let it be known.

The big auction will begin at 6:30 p.m. with Dile Realty running the show. Items are too numerous to list, but range from handmade wooden items, baked goods, gift certificates to both big and small business, tvs and so much more.

Fun Days will feature many ongoing events.

The child-favorite mennonite train will be running offering free fun for Fun Days Youth on Saturday.

Inflatables will be set up for children to partake on. Two hours of inflatable fun will be $10. Bobby Marcum, owner, will donate 20% of proceeds back to SVFD.

Summersville Fire Department dues can be paid under the auction tent throughout the day on Saturday.

SVFD T-shirts will be available for purchase at the auction tent and created on site. Assorted adult and youth sizes will be available.

Many booths spaces have been filled. There are craft vendors, flea market and yard sale booths, church and civic groups and many others scheduled to set up near the tractor show in the field adjacent to the school. Booths are still available as of press time.

More details about certain events can be found in this edition of the Record-Herald.
