Green County Middle School will host Dragon Fest Thursday, Oct. 17 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the school.

“Dragon Fest is a great opportunity for our students to show their families some of the awesome things that take place at GCMS,” said Assistant Principal Kayla Daniels.

The fun event will feature an art show, games, silent auction and the book fair.

Parents/guardians are invited to attend to meet teachers and sign-up for Parent Portal notifications.

Additionally, students attending with a parent or adult will be allowed to pick up their report cards, K-Prep scores and MAP test reports.

“Students and families will be able to pick grade reports, MAP test data and KPREP scores,” Daniels said. “Businesses have generously donated baskets for our silent auction and our clubs will have some fun games to play. You can purchase books at our book fair and delicious concessions from our girls basketball team.”

“We enjoy having our community in our beautiful school and look forward to seeing you there,” she said.

Three chromebooks will be given for students attending. To be eligible, students and their parent/guardian must visit each station.

Schools invite veterans, community to service

Green County Schools would like to invite the public to attend our Veterans Day celebration Friday, Nov. 8, at 9 a.m. CT in the Green County High School gymnasium.

Students from all four schools will be presenting the program to pay tribute to our local veterans and to honor all those who have served our country.

All veterans, their family members, and community members are invited to attend. The Green County High School United Club will also be hosting a reception with light refreshments for veterans and their families at 8 a.m.

For questions or more information, contact Karen Marcum at 270-932-6601.

Isaiah House to host ribbon cutting for welding program on October 18

BY ZAC OAKES
ISAIAH HOUSE PR

The Isaiah House Treatment Centers in conjunction with the Virginia Ponsler Technology Training Center will be hosting a grand opening ceremony on Friday, Oct. 18 to celebrate the launch of the welding classes on the Isaiah House Willisburg Campus. The ceremony will begin at 11 a.m. at the Mike Mullins Vocational Center, located on the Isaiah House Willisburg Campus. The Isaiah House Welding Program is a partnership between Campbellsville University and Isaiah House Treatment Centers, providing the opportunity for men to receive job skills training and take classes to become a certified welder. Isaiah House was recently named a satellite location of Campbellsville University by the U.S. Department of Education, the first treatment center in the U.S. to earn such distinction. “The installation of these new welding stations provides an additional career path for our clients. Upon completion of this program, they will have obtained essential job skills training and will have excellent employment opportunities,” Isaiah House President Mike Cox said. “The ability to gain job training skills and employment is critical to long term success in sobriety. We appreciate our partnership with Campbellsville University to provide these certified welding classes to our clients. We also appreciate the organization that donated $50,000 to purchase the required air filtration and ventilation system for this program. We are deeply indebted to organizations like these who invest and partner with us in saving lives.” Isaiah House Treatment Center is a residential, intensive outpatient and outpatient treatment program with a Gold Standard of care for men & women. Isaiah House is nationally accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation

Facilities (CARF) and dual-licensed with the state of Kentucky as an Alcohol and Other Drug Entity (AODE), as well as a Behavioral Health Service Organization (BHSO).
