

New Vintage Market open for vendors

Special to The Clinton Courier

Main Street Clinton will be embarking on a new event this spring, a Boulevard Vintage Market.

The new market will feature vintage furniture, collectables, linens and vintage clothing. Organizers are in the process of recruiting vendors for the first market, which is scheduled for Saturday, March 30. They are looking for vendors who sell small furniture, china and porcelains, vintage jewelry, coin collectors, silver, antique garden décor, comic books and sports memorabilia, vinyl, linens, and vintage clothing.

"With the growing popularity of shows like Flea Market Flip and American Pickers, we feel like the timing is right to try a vintage inspired market," said Main Street Clinton Director Tara Lytal. "It is our hope that customers can come to the market searching for a piece of furniture to repurpose, or they can find one ready to take home and put into use."

The event will be held at the Wood Activity Center on March 30 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Booths will be available both inside and outside the building for a $35 rental fee.

Contact the Main Street Clinton office at 601-924-5472 for a vendor application or for additional information.

James Sclater Chamber Music series concert set

Special to The Clinton Courier

On February 8, the annual James S. Sclater Chamber Music Series at Mississippi College will host the Mississippi Symphony Orchestra's Woodwind Quintet. The program begins at 7:30 p.m. at the Jean Pittman Williams Recital Hall.

An award-winning composer, Sclater was a beloved Mississippi College music professor for four decades before retiring in 2010. A Mississippi Musicians Hall of Fame member, among many honors, Dr. Sclater played clarinet with the Mississippi Symphony Orchestra from 1971 through 2000.

The Clinton resident mentored many music students over the years. The University of Southern Mississippi graduate was selected MC's Humanities Professor of the Year in 1998. He says he is looking forward to the Woodwind Quintet performance. Their artistic skill levels are simply amazing.

The quintet consists of Mimi Linehan on horn, Amulet Strange on flute, Ken Graves on clarinet, Julie Hudik on oboe, while Jon Wenberg plays the bassoon.

Sclater knows each musician and says he's delighted to welcome the Mississippians to the Clinton campus.

"They are one of the premier groups in the state and MC is fortunate to have them for the chamber series."

He considers the Mississippi Symphony Orchestra members to be more than fabulous musicians. "All are friends I have known and played with for many years. I'm sure the audience will appreciate their musicianship and their choice of music."

The five performers serve as adjunct professors in the Mississippi College Music Department, sponsor of the winter concert.

Tickets for the show are $20 for adults and $5 for students from any school. Tickets can be purchased at the door prior to the Friday evening concert in the Aven Fine Arts Building. The program is the final concert of the year in the Sclater Chamber Music Series.
