

Library offers 50% overdue fine discount

Special to The Clinton Courier

The Jackson Hinds Library System (JHLS) branches, including Clinton's Quisenberry Library, want to help customers clear their overdue fines. Customers of all ages can visit their local library to pay off overdue fines on books, DVDs and CD books with a fifty percent reduction.

JHLS Director Patty Furr urges borrowers to take advantage of this offer to save money and to be able to check out items with no restrictions.

"We certainly understand that everyone today has a very busy life, and we know that our customers may have forgotten to return something on time. We are always happy to see overdue items returned and to help our customers clear their cards, especially at the start of the school year."

To take advantage of the fifty percent reduction offer, patrons can visit any JHLS library through August 24 and ask any staff member to help clear their card. Patrons are advised that there are some fees that are not eligible for the promotion, including collection agency fees or fines for items borrowed from other libraries through the Interlibrary Loan program.

For more information about these or any other services of the Jackson Hinds Library System, visit the JHLS website at www.jhlibrary.org or talk to library staff at any the fourteen library branches.

The Quisenberry Library is located at 605 East Northside Drive and can be reached at 601-924-5684.
