The Titans have Kari Bergstrom back for her second year as head coach for the Norman County East-Ulen-Hitterdal team. Assisting her this season are Jeri Maxwell and Hunter Schow. Their record last season was 14-11, and they are returning a lot of experience from last year's squad.

Lost from last year's team are Emily Theis and Anna Knutson. The team is working on different things to find players who will fit into the positions left open and complete the overall gravity of the team.

On the roster this season are seniors Ryah Opsahl, Kendra Botzet, Madelyn Fain, Aspen Thompson, Brianna Thompson, Corie Peterick and Katie Moore. Juniors are Madison Thornton, Morgan Crompton, Liberty Jensen, Amelia Gunnufson and Makenna Anderson. The lone

"We have seven seniors from last year who will be our primary leaders this season," notes Bergstrom. "They each bring a leader quality with them as they are the veterans of the team."

The Titans are striving to communicate as a team and improve every day this season. Bergstrom believes they have a potential to do very well this year. She describes the team as a great group of girls that work hard and are motivated to do well.

As far as the Pine-To-Prairie Conference, Bergstrom sees Ada-Borup and Fosston being teams to watch that the Titans will play.

"We have a lot of solid returning players to the team this year who have common expectations for the season," concludes Bergstrom. "I love to watch the games that are close and to watch long rallies. In those situations is where you find the players who really stand out and step up."
