

A-lister Morris joins Finney’s Flooring

By Brandy Cochran
Special to the Press

Finney’s Flooring in Dresden has always been a trusted source of quality for any person or business looking to build or remodel, and now Finney himself has put his trust into the new face of his business, interior designer and painting professional, Brad Morris. Originally from Greenfield, Morris has traveled America perfecting his skills while taking courses in Interior Design at Dallas College in 2007. While living in Texas, Morris accomplished high profile sets, such as a major photoshoot of the Dallas Cowboys that was sponsored by Pepsi for the Super Bowl, as well as being honored to host the pilot episode of the hit series, The A-List inside his own home. He then went on take an extensive contract as a photo shoot set designer for Kohls Clothing Company in Los Angeles, where he traveled everywhere from Hollywood to Malibu on a regular basis. As much as he enjoyed the California beauty, though, he described the housing as “too crowded, too small and too expensive.” So,

Morris decided to take on a full-time position in Chicago with the firm Walter E. Smith Company, where he focused on furniture, floor planning, wallpaper, painting, and window treatments over the course of the next five years before finally deciding to move back to Weakley County and share his craft. “I want to bring fresh, modern looks to people’s homes without costing them outrageous prices for the product,” Morris says. This seems to be his main motivation, as he takes on the ranging clientele that have frequented Finney’s Flooring for years. The projects he and his team of subcontractors have taken on locally thus far fully express his intention for the region. His goals for large-scale remodel projects are to create lavish spaces using a reasonable budget to blend economical price tags with upscale designs. At Finney’s Flooring in Dresden, anyone is sure to find that perfect mix of city living and Southern charm they need to complete their ideal dream home no matter the budget. So, next time you are about to embark on a new project or just passing through on Highway 22, make sure and stop by Finney’s Flooring and let Brad Morris make your dreams reality.

Finney’s Flooring can provide that combination of city living with Southern charm you’ve been looking for.

“I want to bring fresh, modern looks to people’s homes without costing them outrageous prices.”
