

New products, practical goods for the hunter...

What's in your bag?

BREYANA SEGURA

Hunting and outdoor pursuits are pastimes that call for practicality and value for money, and in today's market there is no shortage of useful goods that help increase the enjoyment and comfort of an outing for all the family.

Whether it's a birthday gift or a thoughtful addition to a hunter's gear, a gadget or accessory that makes heading into the Great Outdoors trouble-free can do much to enhance the experience. Innovations in design and adaptation of new materials have brought a wealth of products to the fore, and among them are several that benefit the outdoor sports enthusiast.

We have selected some goods for their usefulness to the hunter, among them items that include modern adaptations of tried-and-tested favorites in the field...

MAGNETIC GUN MOUNT:

Hey guys, you or your wife have your concealed carry license and don't want to leave your pistol in the console or glove compartment? Want easier access to your firearm? Look no more, magnetic gun mount and holsters for your vehicle are here. The rubber coated mounts will firmly hold your firearm without scratching them and can be used in the vehicle are your home. The price tag isn't so bad either, coming in anywhere from $15 to $25.

ODOR ELIMINATING FIELD SPRAY

Have a bow hunter in the family? A must have item that needs to make its way into your bow hunting gear list is an odor eliminating field spray. These sprays are critical at any time of whitetail season. There are countless sprays offered, even do-it-yourself formulas. A hunter can purchase a stick of antiperspirant for as little as $3 or a kit that includes lip balm, soap, detergent, basically everything you can think of, for an upwards of $230.

SCOPE'N IT OUT

Sig Sauer Sierra3BDX rifle scopes are the hot commodity on the market this season. The scope provides the hunter an illuminated auto-holdover dot on targets when coupled with a BDX capable rangefinder. The gun accessory features exceptional spectra coat lenses, level plex digital anti-cant, and kinetic energy transfer indicator.

Don't forget the rings to mount it!

SKINNING KNIFE

Your hunter has bagged that buck he has been eyeing all season; now is the time to skin it. The best skinning knife will have a sharp-edge blade with a curve. The knife will also feature a long-lasting blade edge, eliminating the need to sharpen regularly, and should be made with the top-quality steel materials for longevity and to avoid damage or rust when used in rain or other outdoor conditions. A sturdy handle is also something to consider.

MOJO MAGNETIC PICK STICK

For all those hunters out there, picking up spent shell casings is a hassle. Most hunters have a trusty retriever to retrieve the birds, but the hunter is left to retrieve the empty shell hulls.

The MOJO magnetic pick stick is a perfect gift, as it relieves the hunter from having to bend over and pick up the empty shells.

The stick uses a specially designed magnet which mounted into an easy-to-use adjustable shaft. The device is lightweight and can adjust to the hunter's height. The hunter can attach the strap to his wrist and use the magnetic stick in water or on dry land.

Coming in just shy of $35, this is a perfect gift for your fowl hunter.
