

Reeling in memories...

Hooking quality family time

BREYANA SEGURA

The morning hunt is over, breakfast has been served and cleaned-up, and to your disbelief your child is not ready for a nap even after that 4 a.m. wake-up call to get situated in the blind.

What do you do?

During the day South Texas temperatures have a reputation of warming up making for a beautiful day to enjoy outside activities.

Maybe the hunting camp you're staying at offers some stock filled tanks. But if they don't, no worries, Frio and La Salle counties offer two major rivers that flow through South Texas offering prime fishing sites, especially after some good rain.

In the Pearsall area?

The Frio County Community Fishing Pond is located right outside the city

(See HOOKING, Page 5)

A family in South Texas enjoys a nice Friday evening along the banks of a local fishing hole.
