Big Bats

Eubanks are two of the bats in the middle of the order that could be key producers. "Hannah hit the ball extremely well in the opening games," Barham said. "She has been working hard to improve her game offensively and I expect she will be a big key for us in the middle of the lineup." "Destiny has come the furthest along offensively. She hit over .300 last year, can bunt, slash and also swing the bat to drive in runs." Olivia Eubanks is a senior looking to finish out her softball career on a high note. A multi-sport athlete, she has signed to play volleyball at the Mississippi University for Women next fall. But, until then, she has some unfinished business on the softball diamond. Others expecting to contribute on the back end of the order are junior Brooklyn Lee and sophomore Hayley McCardle. "Olivia will be a big role player for us on offense and can handle the bat to move runners around for us," Barham added. "Brooklyn Lee made some adjustments to her swing and has looked strong at the plate thus far." "Hayley is another one that has really stepped up her game. She led the junior varsity last year at the plate and has continued to improve and has hit the ball well in preseason." Other names to keep an eye on include freshmen Lisa Johnson and Britton Dunnam. Both are looking for ways to contribute and have been used as pinch runners this season due to their speed and aggressive baserunning. "I thought a big key for us was the work in the weight room in the offseason," Barham added. "Many of the girls really worked to get a lot stronger." Meadows, along with Kayla and Tiana were the big leaders in the offseason in the weight room and it shows with all three."
